AUNT TRUNDLES BABY 24 MILES; FOUND IN ROAD

St. Charles Sheriff, in Auto, Overtakes St. Louis Woman and Nephew.

WILLOWS THEIR COUCH

Night Spent on Missouri River's Bank, She Tells Bridge Watchman.

CHILDREN FORM POSSE

Little Frank. Koste, Neighborhood Pet, Hunted by 50 Boys and Girls.

Baby Frank Koste, 10 months old, came home Monday afternoon, after an experience such as few babies have had.

His father, Francis Koste of 4588 North Market street, brought him from St. Cahrles in a trolley car through the same 20 mile-stretch of country through which the baby had taken a mad ride in a go-cart 20 hours before.

Little Frank is the favorite of the neighborhood near his parents' home. When he returned the 50 children who had formed a posse to search for him were overcome with delight.

Miss Lulu Robyn, sister of little Frank's mother, was still pushing the go-cart when she was overtaken Monday by a Sheriff's posse four miles north of St. Charles and 24 miles from the baby's home.

Lost Sense of Direction.

Miss Robyn, who is 55 years old, occasionally has mental lapses. She started from the Koste residence at 9.30 a. m. Sunday to give her baby an airing.

It had been her custom to take the child out, and Mrs. Koste thought Frank would be safe in her custody.

While she was pushing the go-cart less than two blocks from the Koste residence Miss Robyn, it is believed, suddenly lost her sense of direction.

She wandered about the streets trying in vain to find her way home.

On and on she trudged, and at last she came to a place where there were few houses. Green fields and dusty roads lay before her.

Still her sense of direction remained at fault. She would keep on through the open country, and in time she would again be in the big city.

Spent Night in Willows.

Passengers on the St. Charles trolley line saw her hurrying along the Rock road. At times she ran, bumping the little green leather go-cart over the rough road and up and down hill.

It was nearly dark when she reached the desolate strip of country called the willows, on the St. Louis County side of the Missouri River, opposite St. Charles.

There she and the baby spent the night in the chill and foggy riverside atmosphere.

Monday she went across the St. Charles bridge, passed through St. Charles and was overtaken two hours later by Sheriff Hines. Se was still pushing the go-cart, on the Boschertown road.

She and the baby were taken to the home of her brother, Ernest Robyn, president of the Central Bank of St. Charles. The baby apparently was none the worse for its strange journey. He was sent back to St. Louis Monday afternoon. Miss Robyn remained at her brother's home in St. Charles.

When she left the Koste home Sunday, Miss Robyn told her sister she was going to "give the baby a little airing."

The search for Miss Robyn and the baby had been under way nearly twenty-four hours, when, still pushing the go-cart, she passed through St. Charles Monday and took the road that leads to the neighboring town of St. Peter's.

Spent Night in Willows.

No effort was made to stop her at St. Charles, though she stopped and talked to Edward Paule, watchman on the highway bridge, and told him that she and the baby had spent the night in the willows on the St. Louis County side of the Missouri River.

After Paule had permitted her to go her way, he was told that conductors and passengers on the trolley line which runs from St. Louis to St. Charles had seen her Sunday afternoon along the St. Charles Rock road, which runs parallel to the street car tracks.

Banker Aids in Search.

After the disappearance of the child Sunday Mr. Robyn received a telephone message from Mrs. Koste asking him to aid in the search.

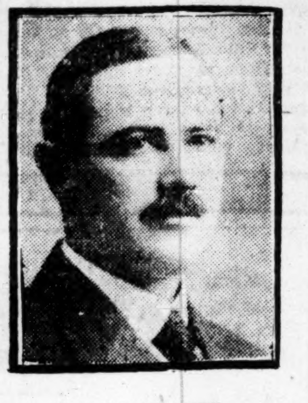
When he learned Monday that Miss Robyn had passed through St. Charles, he notified Sheriff Hines, who started in pursuit in his automobile.

A volunteer posse organized by Mr. Robyn followed, some on horseback and some afoot.

Election in Kentucky; 1 Dead, 3 Dying

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 26.—In a general fight at Pikeville over a primary election in the mountains of Pike County, Anthony Taylor, a Republican worker, was shot three times and instantly killed and three other men were clubbed so severely it is believed they will die. Several arrests were made.

FORMER GOVERNOR ARRESTED IN AUTO



FRANK FRANTZ.

CHIEF OF DETECTIVES' NAME WAS PASSWORD TO POKER GAME

Woman's Letter Gives Tip to Raid in Which Seven Players Were Arrested.

A woman's tip and the name of the Chief of Detectives, used as a password, made it easy for North Market District police to raid a poker game.

The woman peeped through the keyhole, saw her husband playing poker and sent a letter to Capt. Pickel.

"For the past three weeks," she wrote, "my husband has been losing all of his salary and I am in want. Last Sutrday night I trailed him to 2020 North Eleventh street. I saw him go into a room on the second floor and I looked through the keyhole. He was playing poker. I can't cure him of his mania for gambling and I want you to break up the game."

Special Patrolmen Nealey and Derby were sent to the house Saturday night. They went to the room. Nealy knocked on the door.

"Who's there?" said a voice inside.

"Jim Smith," said Nealey.

The door swung open and the officers rushed in and arrested seven men who were playing poker. The table, cards and chips were confiscated.

FALLIERES REVIEWS FLEETS

French and Italian Ships Maneuver on Anniversary.

VILLE FRANCHE, France, April 26.—President Fallieres and the Duke of Genoa today reviewed off Ville Franche the combined fleets, now here, of France and Italy. Seventeen French and four Italian warships took part in the maneuvers.

This Italian squadron was sent to greet M. Fallieres in memory of France's assistance in the Italian struggle for independence. Today is the fiftieth anniversary of the French advance into Piedmont.

WIRELESS REPORT FROM SCOUTS

Cruisers Birmingham and Chester Are 660 Miles Off Bermudas.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The scout cruiser squadron, composed of the Birmingham and Chester, which have aboard the members of the Liberian Commission, and which sailed from New York on Saturday morning for Monrovia, was 660 miles north of the Bermudas at 8 o'clock last night.

The vessels were in communication with the armored cruiser squadron. The two squadrons were 780 miles apart.

GOV. FRANTZ AND WEEPING WOMAN ARRESTED IN TAXI

Couple Taken From Automobile at Fifteenth and Chestnut Streets.

CHIEF RELEASES THEM

They Were Merely a Little Hilarious, Says Creecy in Explanation.

Frank Frantz, former Governor of Oklahoma, and an expensively gowned woman, wearing many diamonds, who said she was Miss Edna Wilson, 23 years old, of the Jefferson Hotel, were arrested at Fifteenth and Chestnut streets early Sunday, following a quarrel in a hired automobile.

The couple was taken in the auto to the Central District Police Station, where Frantz and the woman were detained until 9 a. m., when they were released on bonds signed by Henry Gallant, a Market street pawnbroker.

At 8 p. m. Sunday Lieut. Hess wrote in red across the entries on the police blotter: "Charges dismissed by order of the Chief." The bonds were destroyed.

An effort was made to reach Frantz at the Jefferson Monday morning. The clerk there said he had retired at 9 p. m. Sunday, and that he had not been observed about the hotel since then. There was no response to repeated telephone calls on the line to his room and none to loud knocks on his door.

Went to Campbell's in Auto.

Willim J. Kehoe, a chauffeur for the St. Louis Taxicab Co., told a Post-Dispatch reporter, however, that he had taken Frantz and the woman to Campbell's farm in St. Louis Couny Saturday night and brought them back to the city at 5 a. m. Sunday. Kehoe was driving the machine in which Frantz and the woman were passengers at the time of their arrest.

The arrest was made by Sergt. Wade Matthews and Patrolman Walsh. The policemen reported that Frantz and the woman were quarreling. They said that Frantz was trying to persuade the woman to go somewhere with him and that, when she refused, they quarreled in high tones.

Frantz and the woman were found in a stairway. They had left the auto, which was standing at the curb. The woman was weeping and her head rested on Frantz's shoulder.

Frantz has been in St. Louis much of the time since Feb. 1. He has gone on auto rides about twice a week and is known as "a fine sport," a liberal spender and generous with tips.

Why Charges Were Dismissed.

Chief Creecy was asked Monday why the charges against Frantz and the woman were dismissed. He said:

"Gov. Frantz made a personal appeal to me yesterday afternoon. He said he was a married man, that he had standing in Oklahoma, and that if news of this affair got back to his home it would hurt him badly. The facts were that he and the young woman were just a little hilarious. They hadn't disturbed

PREACHER TELLS OF MINISTERS WHO DRINK WINE

The Rev. J. E. Meeker Brings on Storm in Evangelical Alliance.

"FR." HAGERTY ROUSED

Demands That Names of Bibblers Be Given, but Without Avail.

The Rev. Jacob E. Meeker, pastor of the Compton Hill Congregational Church, stirred the members of the Evangelical Alliance at its meeting in the Odd Fellows' Building Monday and brought a storm of protest about his head.

The Alliance was discussing a resolution offered by the Rev. James R. Smith, pastor of the Hope Congregational Church, on the prohibition movement to the effect that "while the issue of submitting the question to the vote of the people at this time was premature, now that it is here the Evangelical Alliance will fight it through."

Mr. Meeker was on his feet after the motion to adopt it had been made and while a second was being awaited, and spoke vigorously against it.

"I am the man with the 'moral squint,'" he said, "but I don't use the goods. There are ministers in St. Louis who use wine, who go to their clubs and the homes of their parishioners and drink wines and eat good things"—

Declares Preachers Drink.

"Do I understand you to say that there are ministers among us who drink wine?" thundered Dr. Thomas H. Hagerty, chaplain of the city institutions for the M. E. Church, known affectionately as "Father" Hagerty.

"You do," said Dr. Meeker calmly.

"Then I deny it!" said "Father" Hagerty in a voice that shook with anger. "I don't believe that this Alliance wants to be smirched by the lips of a man who says such things. I want him to specify which of us here drinks wine. I do not drink wine."

"I think the gentleman misunderstood Dr. Meeker," said Rev. H. M. Lichliter, interposing. "My understanding of what he said is that there are ministers in St. Louis who drink wine. He did not say that there were members of this Alliance."

But "Father" Hagerty would not be mollified.

"I insist upon being cleared of this stigma put upon me by this man," he said.

Dr. Meeker silently listened to Dr Hagerty, a smile on his face, which was slightly flushed, while several ministers leaped to their feet vainly trying to get the floor, and President W. F. Andrews stood at his chair trying to calm the meeting.

"Father" Hagerty Silenced.

"This discussion must be conducted in moderation," he said, recognizing the author of the resolution, who asked that the discussion be resumed without the resort to personalities. "Father" Hagerty retired from the discussion, and Dr. Meeker took up his address.

"The paper read by Mr. Smith will not be unanimously passed," he continued. "I for one will oppose it. Mr. Smith has made statements he cannot verify. Americans will live to regret that page in their history which tells of the time the church took charge of the politics of the State. History is already full of such cause for regret.

"In every church there are men who are opposed to prohibition, so that any minister who comes here and says he represents the sentiments of his congregation in endorsing prohibition does not do so. He stands only for the men in his church who are prohibitionists.

"As a man who believes in a Democratic form of government I cannot consent to uphold this movement. If it is submitted to the people I will fight it through the State from every platform on which I can get to speak. I am opposed to it because it is contrary to the spirit of Americanism.

"The people of my church are opposed to the submission of the question, and it will not come up in the church, for we will have no politics in the church.

Will Go to Jefferson City.

"If you are going to send men to Washington to speak to the Senate Committee tell them to say, 'Do what you believe to be right as men with consciences and honest convictions.'"

The Rev. S. E. Ewing, pastor of the Ewing Avenue Baptist Church, had previously offered a resolution that the president of the alliance accompanied by a minister of every denomination represented in the alliance, and a number of business men go to Jefferson City and say to the Senate that the alliance as representatives of the churches of St. Louis wanted the prohibition question submitted to the vote of the people. This resolution was passed.

AEROPLANE STARTS BY ITSELF

Wilbur Wright Makes Several Successful Flights in Rome.

ROME, April 26.—Wilbur Wright made a series of successful flights here today, making the starts without the aid of a derrick or rail.

The aeroplane was propelled over the grass with its own power, the momentum gradually increasing until at the end of 150 yards the machine left the ground and sailed into the air.

GIRL FOUND ON TRAIN AFTER FATHER OFFERED $5000 RANSOM

ADELE BOAS.

BOAS GIRL HOME AGAIN; SHE RAN AWAY TO WORK

She Intended to Make Her Way, Got a Job, Cut Her Finger and Quit.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Adelia Boas ran away and was not kidnaped. She had grown tired of a life of ease and decided she would like to earn her own living.

She went straight to Boston, where she got a job in a restaurant, which she held one day. She cut her finger and that made her tire of her employment.

Then she saw in a Boston paper the big row that had been made over her disappearance, and went straight to the station this morning to get a ticket home. It took the last penny she had.

She concealed her identity, she said, because she was pestered at every stop by newspaper reporters who got on the train and asked her if she was Miss Boas. To get rid of them, she told them all she was Frieda Dalton; that she had been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Poor, in Boston and was on her way home.

She returned to New York this afternoon. Her uncle, Carl Rosenbaum, and her brother met her at Grand Central Station. She was incoherent and looked half starved. One of her stockings was torn off. A great mob surrounded and cheered her as she was led to a taxicab, which was hurried to the family home in West Eighty-eighth street.

Her uncle said that a statement would be given out as soon as she was restored to her father and mother. This statement was later given out and recitet the story of her experiences as told above.

Convinced that Adele had been kidnaped, Arthur E. Boas had offered $5000 for her return or information that would lead to the recovery of her whereabouts. To the announcement of the reward, the significant phrase was added: "No questions asked."

The police had been working on one clew, and that was arrived at largely by elimination. It was that a former governess, who left the employ of the family three months ago, might know something of the girl's whereabouts.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ABANDONS TRIP TO MEET HUSBAND

She Will Return From Europe Nov. 1 and Spend Winter at Sagamore Hill.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., April 26.—Instead of remaining in Europe through next winter and traveling up the Nile in the spring to meet the former President, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt will return to this country about Nov. 1 and spend the winter months at the family home at Sagamore Hill. This announcement was made here today.

Mrs. Roosevelt, with Miss Ethel, Archie and Quentin, will sail for Europe about July 1 and will spend a month with Miss Carew, Mrs. Roosevelt's sister, at her villa near Rome. Thence they will go to France on a trip planned especially for Miss Ethel's benefit.

HADLEY NAMES JUDGE FERRISS AS POLICE HEAD

Former World's Fair Counsel Offered Presidency of Board of Commissioners.

The presidency of the St. Louis Police Board was tendered to former Circuit Judge Franklin Ferriss by Gov. Hadley Monday.

Judge Ferriss told a Post-Dispatch reporter that word of his appointment has not reached him from Gov. Hadley.

"If the Governor tenders me the appointment I shall want to think about it a while before deciding whether to accept," said Judge Ferriss. "I cannot tell now what I shall do."

The Governor said, according to a Jefferson City dispatch, that he hoped Judge Ferriss would accept, if only for a short time. David R. Francis was also tendered a reappointment for four years as a member of the Board of Curators of the University of Missouri.

Judge Ferriss resigned from the bench to become general counsel for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co. He was appointed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals as referee in the famous suit of the Government to dissolve the Standard Oil Co. His report in this case was recently submitted to the court which heard arugments in this city on the testimony taken before Judge Ferriss in New York.

Was a Slate-Maker.

In recent years Judge Ferriss has been active in politics. He was formerly chairman of a committee of 200 that financed Republican campaigns for Jeptha D. Howe. He was chairman of the recent Republican city convention, chairman of the opening meeting of the campaign, and was one of the slatemakers that agreed upon the Republican ticket in advance of the convention.

ST. LOUIS TO HAVE COOLER WEATHER THOUGH TURKEY IS HAVING A REAL HOT SPELL

THE SULTAN'S 200 COOKS MUST HAVE COOKED HIS GOOSE
APR. 26 09

"Well, I see all is not lost," said the City Hall clerk who was cleaning out his desk.

"Well, we've lost our jobs, haven't we?" said the man on the next stool.

"Yes, it's tough on us fellows who have to get out to make room for Republicans, but there's one bright spot on the political horizon."

"What's that?"

"Turkey has gone Democratic."

"Yes, but it's a long way from the Twenty-second Ward."

The official forecast: Partly cloudy weather, with showers tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight; cooler Tuesday; the minimum temperature tonight, 60 degrees.

The river is at 24.3, a fall of .4, and will continue to fall slowly.

TURKISH CABINET RESIGNS; EXECUTION OF SOLDIERS BEGINS

Sultan's Fate to Be Decided by Young Turks and Parliament After Army Is Cleansed.

200 SOLDIERS, LOYAL TO THE RULER, WILL BE BOMBARDED

Line of Macedonians Circles Last Stronghold of Monarch's Defenders Preparing to Wipe Them Out If They Do Not Surrender.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 26.—Tewfik Pasha, the grand vizier, this morning, transmitted to the Sultan the resignation of the entire Cabinet and communicated this fact to Parliament.

The Committee of Union and Progress has issued a statement denying the allegations attributing the recent occurrences to controversies between the political parties and saying the march of the Constitutionalists on the capital was undertaken under the influence of the committee.

The statement sets forth that the tragic events of the last fortnight were provoked by "wretches and vile personages who were injured by the proclamation of the Constitution. Soldiers were corrupted with money and incited to commit acts of savagery. The Holy Mission of the Army is above personalities. The committee wishes to work for the general interest and serve the fatherland."

The fate of the Sultan probably will be decided by Parliament.

The feeling among the members of Parliament against the Sultan remaining on the throne, is strong. Mohammed Reschad Effendi, the Sultan's brother, is the favorite candidate for the succession.

A courtmartial today sentenced to death five men who participated in the original outbreak against the constitution. They will be executed this afternoon.

The Scutari Artillery Barracks, which yesterday threatened to bombard Constantinople, were fully evacuated during the night. The men who were in the barracks are prisoners and camped last night in an adjacent graveyard.

To Attack Last Stronghold.

The constitutional army now commands every point except that occupied by 200 of the Sultan's Albanian soldiers stationed at the Imperial Palace at Yildiz. They persistently refused today to surrender their quarters, which are adjacent to the main gates of the palace inclosure. Although these men have not fired on any one, their steadfast refusal to submit and be disarmed is very annoying to Schefket Pasha, who is arranging to attack them and force their surrender unless they will do as he desires.

The correspondent repaired to the scene of this threatened trouble.

"Some of His Majesty's children are disobedient," remarked the officer commanding the approach to the gates of the palace, in reply to a question.

"We have placed a battalion of Macedonian volunteers within close range and we are awaiting only the arrival of artillery before making a final demand for surrender. If this is refused, we must attack."

The Macedonians referred to were behind a series of long, terraced walls between 300 and 400 yards from the Albanian barracks. Their cartridge belts were full. As the officer was speaking a number of Macedonian volunteers, mostly men of independent position, were arriving on the scene in cabs and carriages to have a share in the final engagement.

4000 Persons Arrested.

The arrests of reactionaries and religious students continue and it is estimated that up to last night 4000 such persons had been apprehended.

The last burials of the men who fell in the fighting of Saturday took place last night. The dead number about 300 and the men in hospitals do not reach the total of 500. Five thousands troops were taken prisoners.

One body of prisoners marched past Schefket Pasha's headquarters this morning on its way to camp in the country. The men were in no sense downcast, but were smoking cigarettes and chatting with animation. A few prisoners have been shot in attempting to escape.

The artillerist who was awaiting execution at Schefkat Pasha's headquarters was knocked down today by a soldier in one of the Constitutionalist regiments. The soldier was dragged away by his comrades, but he called out in explanation of his act: "That rascal killed four officers."

The men suspected of instigating the mutiny of April 13 have been separated from the main body of prisoners and will be tried by courtmartial.

It is rumored today that prisoners are being shot in the country beyond the Sweet Waters, but definite assurances were obtained at Schefket Pasha's headquarters that no executions yet had occurred, although a considerable number was probable.

Young Turks Leaders Discuss Fate of Sultan, and Punishment of Army

Col. Hamdi at the headquarters of Schefket Pasha, the commander of the Second and Third Army Corps, was asked what disposition would be made of the Sultan. He replied:

"His Majesty's relations to the events of March 13 will, I understand, be considered by a commission of notable men, sitting privately. The endeavor will be to arrive at a just estimate of His Majesty's position."

Col. Hamdi added that neither Gen. Schefket nor any of the four principal subordinate commanders had seen the Sultan.

"But we have been told," he said, "by officers of the household, that his attitude has had nothing to do with the deplorable occurrences. He is and has been for the Constitution. This is not a civil war, but a punitive expedition. Our task is to cleanse the army from sedition and bring it to a proper state of discipline; to find, try and execute those who have murdered their officers and devised and led the rising against the authority of the state. We shall courtmartial the suspected persons and execute those that are condemned, who will number possibly 50, possibly 200."

Enver Bey, one of the leaders of the Young Turks, when asked how military men regarded the Sultan, replied:

"We do not have an opinion on that subject. The Sultan is in the hands of Parliament. The army is the instrument of the civil au[illegible]ties, and the army's mission [illegible] affair is to uphold the civil [illegible]ment."

Constantinople experie[illegible] the effects of the state [illegible] yesterday. The capita[illegible] of the dead. No one was allowed on the streets after 8 o'clock in the evening and the carrying of arms by civilians as well as the publication of news likely to create disquietude are strictly prohibited.

Arab Offered Premiership.

The city is quiet this morning and is gradually resuming its normal aspect. The declaration of martial law and the fact that constitutionalists are in full control promise the maintainance of order.

Scefkil Pasha, commander of the Constitutional army, is the man of the hour. The leading civilian members of the Committee of Union and Progress desire him to be grand vizier in succession to Tewfik Pasha, and he has been assured that a majority of parliament would gladly support a ministry under his leadership in succession to the Tewfik ministry, which resigned today.

In reply to these proposals Scefkil Pasha said the premiership offered such a splendid opportunity to assist in the political development of the country that he would have rejoiced to accept the honor had it come to him under any other circumstances, but that he could not accept it while still leader of the army. To do so would not accord with his ideas of civil and political liberty of action.

Scefkil Pasha is an Arab and comes from Bagdad. He has lived for [illegible] years in Europe and received his military training in Germany.

A major of the guard at the Imperial Palace of Yildiz has confessed he was [illegible] $6500 to act with the palace conspirators.

[illegible] parliamentary leaders have [illegible] act as if this had been ne[illegible] [illegible] to the parliamentary system.

RUDYARD KIPLING FEARS FOR LIFE OF ROOSEVELT

Author Sees a Double Menace in Jungle Fever and Wild Beasts.

PARTY GOES TO RANCH

Former President on First Hunting Trip Bags Two Gnus and a Gazelle.

ROME, April 26.—Rudyard Kipling, who is spending a month in Rome at the Hotel Savoy, with his wife and daughter, chiefly on account of the delicate health of the latter, is deeply interested in ex-President Roosevelt's African trip. He is apprehensive for all members of the party.

From his own experience in Africa and equatorial countries, Mr. Kipling has grave fears that the ex-President and his son will never be able fully to eradicate from their systems the fevers which, he says, they can hardly hope to escape.

"Ever since I learned of Mr. Roosevelt's plans," he said to the Post-Dispatch correspondent, "I have been much concerned. If he were a man of no special account it would be entirely of his own affair, but he means so much to the whole world that he has no right to take such chances with his future. I know he is very strong, and I am told he is in perfect physical condition; he may pull through with nothing worse than a bad liver, but at least he has no right to take his son into the jungle.

Danger From Rhinos.

"That part of Africa is no place for a boy, even if he is a perfect type of young manhood, and Kermit has a very good chance of acquiring some sort of fever, from the effects of which he may never entirely recover. The other danger the party will have to face is from the rhinos. I never had one charge on me, but from what I have been told by friends who have been over the route Mr. Roosevelt will cover, they are far more to be feared than lions or any other wild beasts."

Mr. Kipling has not recovered from his dislike of America as a place to live.

"I have not been there in 10 years, and have no present intention of going there," he said. "I have large interests in England and Africa now and there is nothing I can think of that could take me to America."

Roosevelts Are Indisposed.

NICIBY, British East Africa, April 26.—Both Theodore Roosevelt and his son Kermit are indisposed today as a result of their recent hunting activity and their journey from Kapiti plains to the ranch of Sir Alfred Pease on the Athi River. They are resting from their fatigue at the ranch.

Maj. Mearns, Edmund Heller and J. Alden Loring, members of the Roosevelt party, went over to Sir Alfred's this morning. George McMillan of St. Louis and F. C. Selous are going to Machakos via the Pease ranch Wednesday.

Lions are reported numerous on Mr. McMillan's Ju Ja ranch, and there is a herd of buffalo on Mr. Heatley's ranch, where Mr. Roosevelt will hunt.

The weather here and at the Pease ranch today is cloudy and heavy rains fell last night. The prospects of sport on the plains are exceptionally good, owing to the rainfall.

There have been no more cases of smallpox in the Roosevelt caravan. Two porters who had the disease have been quarantined.

Before leaving Nairobi, Mr. Roosevelt enjoyed one hunt of several hours. He bagged two gnus and a Thompson's gazelle.

RUSSIAN MRS. GUNNESS AND WOMAN ACCOMPLICES TAKEN

Kept Inn Near St. Petersburg, Murdered Guests and Threw Bodies Into River.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 26.—A band of female cut-throats who for many months have been committing a series of brutal murders, was discovered, and its members arrested yesterday in the village of Kurchino, 30 miles from St. Petersburg. The principal culprits are a mother and two daughters, who kept a tavern.

Assisted by other women in the village, they murdered travelers who stopped at the inn for the night, disfigured the bodies beyond recognition and then threw them into a rapidly flowing stream that passed near the inn. Many of these bodies were found, but the distance from the village was so great that suspicion did not at first center there.

ODORS BORNE ON THE BREEZE ROUSES ST. CHARLES' WRATH

A delegation of St. Charles business men, voicing the sentiments of the population in general, crossed the Missouri River Monday morning and complained to the management of the Standard Reduction Works that the odor from the St. Louis garbage which is being disposed of on the southern bank is an unendurable nuisance to St. Charles.

The management denied the garbage process of reduction causes the odor, but stated that five cars of refuse awaiting treatment are responsible for the odors blown across the river. The plant, which opened March 1, is not yet in full operation. Lack of full working capacity has caused a surplus of garbage collect.

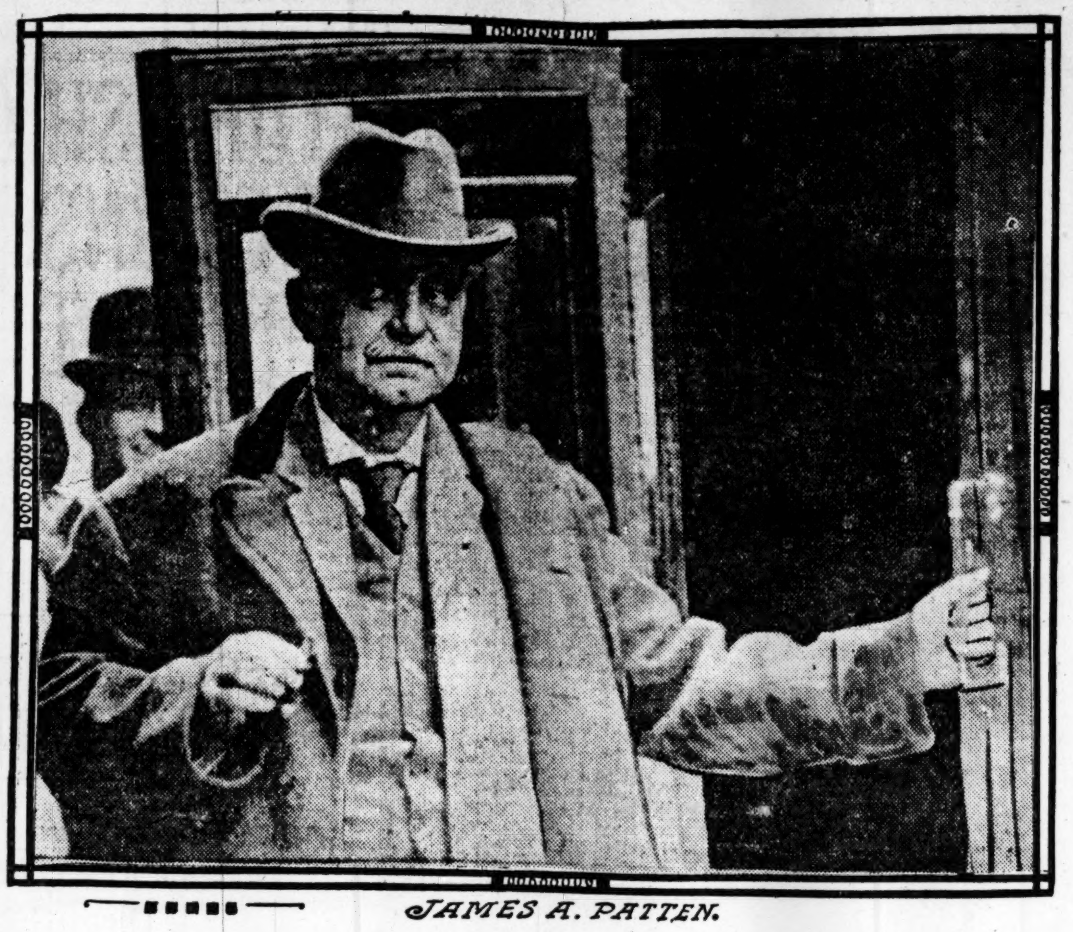
Self-Exiled "Wheat King" Caught by Camera As He Was Leaving Chicago



JAMES A. PATTEN.

TRINIDAD, Colo., April 26.

JAMES A. PATTEN remains in exile at the Bartlett Ranch in the mountains of Southern Colorado. He refuses to receive telegrams and will not answer the telephone. He has apparently forgotten the wheat market and does not know nor care where prices go.

Efforts to get a word from him have been unsuccessful except on the subject of fishing. "The trout are biting fine," he says. Further than this he is as uncommunicative as the Sphinx. If he knows that there has been a big slump in the grain market he is showing no sign that the knowledge interests him. He is getting the rest for which he so suddenly left Chicago.

BOSS PLUMBER GIVES POLICE A BOMB STEER

Special Officers Find Dangerous Looking Object Only a Curtain Pole.

When James Dockery of 5 South Third street, boss plumber, no relation to Dockery, ex-boss Governor, went to the house at 2827 Cass avenue Monday to inspect a job of plumbing done by one of his employes, he saw a sight that made him seek telephone connection with Chief of Police Creecy.

When the Realty Construction Co. of 821 Chestnut street awarded him the plumbing part of a general alteration contract on the Cass avenue house, Dockery hired a nonunion plumber to do the work. After seeing the premises, he called up Chief Creecy and said things like this:

"Labor troubles—conspiracy—got in over Sunday—floor full of holes—dynamite—bomb there ready to blow up house!"

The Chief, commendably eager to forestall a disastrous explosion, sent Special Officers Hunt and Malone of the Dayton Street Station post haste to the premises.

The policemen entered gingerly. They stepped light as eiderdown on a dewy lawn. Scarcely did they breathe, lest their chest expansion so annoy the atmosphere that the bomb would blow up.

Ha! There It Lies!

Dockery was on hand, guarding his voice. If he talked aloud, that bomb would bombard the city.

"Hist!" he whspered, as Hunt and Malone entered. "Tread lightly and"——

"And carry a big stick?" suggested Hunt. "Where's the big stick?"

"It's a bomb," whispered Dockery. "See—there!"

Malone went forward on tiptoe, and picked up a lace curtain pole painted to resemble a gaspipe. It proved its innocense and was released on its own recognizance.

"But the holes," whispered Dackery; "see, in the floor—may be filled with p-u-uowder!"

What! 'Tis a Rat Hole!

Malone and Hunt made bold to examine the holes. Being empty, the holes appeared innocuous.

"This hole," said Hunt, "is a rat hole, and this one is a knot hole."

"And this hole," said Malone, "is a knot hole, and this one is a rat hole."

Whereupon the entire conspiracy blew up with a silent report—in writing to Chief Creecy.

JESUIT BISHOP IN ST. LOUIS ON HIS WAY TO SEE THE POPE

Former St. Louisan Has Been Stationed in British Honduras Recently.

Bishop F. C. Hopkins, whose station is in British Honduras, is in St. Louis on his way to Rome to visit the Pope. He is one of the seven Jesuits in the world who have been elevated to the bishopric.

During his week's stay here he is the guest of the St. Louis University. For years the Jesuits of this institution have been making special efforts to convert the people of the province to which Bishop Hopkins is assigned.

Frantz Was a Rough Rider.

Capt. Frantz is 34 years old. His appointment to the office of territorial Governor of Oklahoma was an outgrowth of friendship for him on the part of President Roosevelt which had its origin in associations while both were officers in the Rough Riders in Cuba.

Frantz, a Virginian, was employed by a mining machinery concern at Prescott, Ariz., when the Spanish-American war opened. He heard of the organization of the Rough Riders and enlisted as a private. Gov. McCord, however, commissioned him Second Lieutenant of Troop A, and as such he went to Tampa, Fla., for the mobilization of the regiment. There, for the first time, he met Theodore Roosevelt, Lieutenant-Colonel of the regiment.

In 1900 Frantz and his brother, Mont, were in the hardware business at Enid, Ok. Roosevelt induced him to accept the Enid postmastership. To accomplish this it was necessary to summon Frantz to a conference at Washington. Afterwards he was appointed agent for the Osage Indians and in 1906 Territorial Governor.

Once Knocked Roosevelt Down.

When Gov. Haskell, the first State Governor of Oklahoma, was inaugurated, Frantz refused to ride with him in the inaugural procession, as the personal feeling between the two men was not of the best. Frantz had endeared himself to President Roosevelt by his bravery on the battlefield and by his personal prowess.

While Roosevelt was President and Frantz was visiting at the White House they engaged in a famous boxing match. Frantz knocked down the Chief Executive, who considered himself a skillful pugilist. That knockdown only added to the esteem in which the President held his former Rough Rider companion.

Roosevelt many times has said that at San Juan Hill a troop of cavalry without a captain was pressing up the hill. Lieut. Frantz was in the lead. Lieutenant-Colonel Roosevelt dashed up to him.

"Where's your Captain?" asked Roosevelt.

"Dead," answered Frantz.

"Where are you going?" asked the Colonel.

"To the top of the hill," was the laconic reply.

The Captain had been killed early in the engagement and the promptness with which Frantz assumed command and led his troop into action excited Roosevelt's admiration.

KRETSCHMAR TO PLEAD HE SHOT IN SELF-DEFENSE

Trial of the Slayer of Clarence N. Jones for Murder Is Commenced.

Self-defense will be the plea of Herman A. Kretschmar, who was placed on trial Monday morning in Judge Shields' Court on the charge of murdering Clarence N. Jones, his lifelong friend. The State will try to prove that the killing was a permeditated murder, revenge being the motive.

Two letters written by Jones to an Eastern milling concern will be introduced by the State. Jones was president of the Commonwealth Feed Mills, and was shot by Kretschmar in his office at the plant, Second and De Soto streets, Feb. 3. Kretschmar had been secretary of the mills company.

The State will contend that the letters mentioned contained statements about Kretschmar which he considered reflections upon his character, and that he went to Jones' office intending to kill him.

Jury Can Fix Punishment.

Under the new State law the jury, should it find Kretschmar guilty of murder in the first degree, will have the option of sentencing him to death or making his punishment life imprisonment.

Police Commissioner George P. Jones, a brother of the man who was shot by Kretschmar, will be a witness for the State. Commissioner Jones and Chief of Detectives Smith, immediately after the killing, had a photograph of the interior of the office taken. This will be introduced in an effort to prove that Jones was killed while sitting at his desk.

Another witness for the State is Charles Snider, a saloon keeper at 4220 North Broadway, to whom Kretschmar surrendered, saying:

"I just shot a man."

Assistant Circuit Attorney Cleveland A. Newton is prosecuting. Kretschmar is defended by Charles P. Johnson and C. Orrick Bishop. Monday will be spent in getting a jury.

"ANTI-TRUST" THEATER BILL PASSES HOUSE

Measure Provides Fine for Houses That Discriminate Against Plays.

MUST SHOW BOOKINGS

Only Grounds for Refusing Engagement Is to Be That Date Is Engaged.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 26.—The "anti-trust" theater bill passed this morning in the House by a vote of 73 to 22. The measure declares theaters to be places of public amusement and consequently subject to the laws that govern enterprises vested with a public use. That gives the State the right of regulation, provided, of course, the courts do not set aside the declaration of the Legislature.

Having declared the right of regulation, the bill makes this provision for keeping theaters open to the public and subject to the right of the management to exclude objectionable plays and refuse admission to objectionable characters:

"Hereafter it shall be unlawful for any owner, or lessee or any manager, agent, employe or representative of the owner or lessee who may be in charge and having the care and management of such amusement places or houses of public amusement to discriminate against standard reputable plays, operas, shows or other productions by whatever name known.

Penalty Is Provided.

"Any owner or lessee or any manager, agent, employe or representative of the owner or lessee in charge of such house or houses who shall fail and refuse to rent, lease and let such houses of public amusement for one or more performances, and upon such terms and conditions as shall not be deemed unreasonable, extortionate or prohibitive, to the agent, manager, proprietor or representative, who may, in good faith, make application therefor, of any reputable company, opera or show by whatever name known, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction of the State, be fined any sum not less than $100 nor more than $500.

"In cases where amusements not subject to objection because of their character, apply for bookings and are refused, the manager must show that the house is engaged in good faith for dates applied for or be subject to the penalties provided in the act.

"The bookings of every theater must be open to inspection and must be exhibited upon request to all persons applying therefor who shall in good faith desire to lease such house."

CHICAGO GRAFT IN THE HANDS OF STOCK COMPANY

State's Attorney Will Present Mass of Testimony to Grand Jury.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Investigation of al allegeation that vice in the tenderloin district of Chicago is protected by a ring composed of two aldermen, two resort keepers and a hight police official who are said to have formed a stock company for the purpose, was begun by State's Attorney John E. Wayman here today.

The system oc ollecting tribute is said to have been worked out to the finest point. Money for protection is alleged to be collected weekly by a leader of the ring who employs several assistants. Every saloon and dive in the so-called "red-light" district is said to contribute.

Not only has it been reported to the State's Attorney that the dive-keepers pay weekly sums ranging from $100 to $500, but that the ring owns groceries, meat markets, dry goods stores, a dressmaking establishment, drug stores, wholesale liquor houses, etc., at which the inmates of places which pay protection money are compelled to trade.

The alleged ring has been in existence for two years. Of the stock, one-half is said to be owned by the two aldermen, and the remaindier by the two divekeepers and the police officials.

The State's Attorney is said to have collected a mass of information concerning the "vice trust." It will be presented for the consideration for the present grand jury which is conducting a sweeping investigation of alleged "grafting" in the City Hall.

TWO MEN CLAIM SAME WIFE

Woman Is Arrested on Charge of Bigamy.

CHICOPEE, Mass., April 26.—Mrs. Cora Johnson was arrested today on a warrant charging bigamy, sworn to by two angry men, each claiming to be the woman's husband.

In November, 1906, Miss Cora Seymour, then 18 years old, married William Johnson of Chicopee. John Marcolo alleges that Mrs. Johnson married him last month. The woman says that Marcolo told her it "would be all right in Connecticut."

REALTY EXCHANGE STIRRED BY FIGHT FOR PRESIDENCY

Old and New Boards Meet—Contest Expected to Get Into Courts.

Politics among the members of the Real Estate Exchange was at white heat Monday afternoon, when the newly elected Board of Directors and the old Board of Directors of the organization met to decide whether James P. Blake or J. H. Gundlach should be its president. The official count of the vote for the presidency disclosed a tie, Blake and Gundlach each receiving 46 votes.

But that is not the whole story. Some joker cast a vote for Gundlach, but voted for the full 13 directors, whereas, according to a tacit understanding, he should have voted for only 12 directors, the prescribed number for the Board of Directors. This vote was thrown out as irregular by the tellers of the election. Gundlach is accordingly basing his claims for the presidency on this ballot, which he claims has been excluded on a technicality, and which he avers is not provided for in the by-laws of the Exchange.

St. Louis Money Market.

In the event of a contest, the by-laws provide that the election shall be decided by the outgoing board, and in the event of a tie, by in the incoming board. As the matter stands the new board, headed by A. R. Schollmeyer, proposes to elect Blake, and the old board headed by Charles Z. Trembley, Gundlach. Gerald B. O'Reilly will probably be elected vice-president.

Both sides have engaged attorneys and it is not unlikely that the contest will ultimately be decided in the courts.

The feeling is intense, the controversy threatening to disrupt the organization, dealers declare, if it is not settled to the entire satisfaction of both sides.

In order to avert this, Fred G. Zeibig, president of the Cornet & Zeibig Real Estate Co., has suggested that the matter be left to the attorney of the exchange, and has circulated a petition to this effect.

Robert Rutledge, the outgoing president of the exchange, returned to St. Louis Monday, but not being conversant with the matter, he declined to discuss it.

AGED MAN SUCCUMBS IN ONE MONTH TO CANCER OF THROAT

Disease Runs Quick Course Although Victim, 75, Never Drank or Smoked.

One of the quickest cancer fatalities known to City Hospital physicians was that of Edward Noonan, 75 years old, of 1520 North Eighteenth street, who died Sunday night. Noonan starved to death because the cancerous growth closed his throat and made it impossible for him to take nourishment. He was taken to the hospital March 25. He said he had been well until a week before, when he felt a burning pain in his throat.

Noonan said that in all his life he never had used tobacco or liquor of any kind. The physicians were unable to explain what caused the cancer.

TAFT ORDERS AN INVESTIGATION OF A DOZEN ROADS

Department of Justice Officials Start Greatest Inquiry in Its History.

MISSOURI IS INVOLVED

Assistant Attorney-General Confers With State Authorities on Rail Combinations.

CHICAGO, April 26.—The Tribune today prints the following dispatch from Washington:

The administration is soon to engage in one of the biggest railroad investigations known in the history of the country. The work is to be done by officials of the Department of Justice, and an agent of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The lines affected are:

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Co., Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Co., Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co., Colorado Midland Railroad Co., Colorado & Southern Railway Co., Denver & Rio Grande Railroad Co., Missouri Pacific Railroad Co., Oregon Railroad and Navigation Co., Oregon Short Line Railroad Co., San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad Co., Southern Pacific Railroad Co., Union Pacific Railroad Co.

On Order From Taft.

The investigation will be of charges of combination between railroads, alleged to be arbitrary and unlawful, of the enforcement of despotic rates for both freight and passenger service, and of gross discrimination in rates.

President Taft himself has directed that the investigation be made.

Attorney-General Wickersham is in full sympathy with the order of his chief.

By the latter's direction, Assistant-Attorney-General Wade H. Ellis has been in conference every day during the last week with representatives of the States affected, including Utah, which particularly has made complaint.

CROKER TO SEE DERBY ENTRIES

His Object in Crossing Sea Is to Inspect His Race Horses.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Richard Croker, who is to sail for Ireland on the Lusitania Wednesday, said last night that his principal object in going there now was to look over his several horses and one filly, which he has entered for the Derby, to be run on May 28.

"I am anxious to see how these animals have shaped up in my absence," said Mr. Croker, "and I am afraid they are not quite fast enough for the Derby company. It costs $250 to run a horse after you have entered it and no one wants to pay that unless there is some chance of success. I only have one entry for the Ascot."

CHICAGO TO GREET GUNBOAT

CHICAGO, April 26.—Preparations are being made in Chicago to receive the gunboat Nashville, which is scheduled to steam into Lake Michigan harbor about June 1.

The historic war vessel, which will be the first of its kind to sail the waters of the Great Lakes, has been given to the Illinois Naval Reserves by the Navy Department. The Nashville made the first attack against the Spanish flag in 1898.

SAYS MRS. BOYLE WAS MAID

Banker, Who Suffered Loss Like Dyers', Sees Photograph.

CLEVELAND, O., April 26.—Harry E. Hayes, 6910 Euclid avenue, a member of the banking firm of W. J. Hayes & Son, believes Mrs. Helen Boyle, in jail at Mercer, Pa., is the servant who disappeared in August, 1906, with $6000 worth of his jewelry.

Mrs. Hayes is acquainted with Mr. Chouteau Dyer of St. Louis, who also suffered a similar loss, and has written her. Both are positive the thief in each case was identical. Hayes says the description and photographs of Mrs. Boyle correspond with that of the maid except that the maid's hair was dark and curly while Mrs. Boyle's is light.

EARL'S BROTHER ENDS LIFE OVER A LOVE AFFAIR

Special Cable From Paris Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

Copyright, 1909, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

PLYMOUTH, England, April 26.—The Hamburg-American liner Cleveland, which arrived today, brought a pathetic story of the suicide of Hon. Ronald Ramsey, 24 years old, brother of the Earl of Dalhousie.

Young Ramsay was said to have had an unfortunate love affair with an American girl and he was depressed during the voyage. Friday night, before the captain's ball, he flung himself overboard. Boats were immediately lowered and every effort was made to rescue him, but all was unavailing.

Ramsay left a letter, addressed to his uncle, the Hon. Charles Maule Ramsay, who married Martha Estelle Garrison, daughter of the late W. R. Garrison of New York, and who is highly popular and respected on both side of the Atlantic. This is the letter:

> Dear Uncle: I am feeling rather queer, but must just write to say good-by. You looked after us boys so well I wanted to be a credit to you so much, but I have not been able to keep bad thoughts out of my head lately.
>
> I have not made a will yet, but I suppose my things will be divided among my brothers. I should have liked to have seen them again.
>
> Give my love to Fox, and I hope he will be all right and fairly happy.
>
> Yours affectionately, RONNY.

Young Ramsay was the third brother of Lord Dalhousie. Their father and mother died 22 years ago under somewhat peculiar circumstances.

They had made a voyage to New York for the benefit of the Earl's health, and, landing at Havre on their return, the Countess died after one day's illness of blood poisoning and the following morning the Earl was found dead of heart failure.

The Countess was one of the most beautiful women of her time and her husband was unusually respected in England. Charles Ramsay acted as guardian to the four children. He is now in Saskatchewan, a district of the Canadian Northwest.

The steamer Cleveland, with Ramsay on board, sailed from New York on Saturday, April 17, for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Hamburg.

SEND $10 QUICK OR DIE, ADMIRER WRITES TO GIRL

The police have refused to arrest a man who, Miss Lily Schumacher of 4403 West Belle place, says wrote her a letter, threatening to kill her unless she gave him $10. The writer of the letter, she told Night Chief Gillaspy, was a former admirer.

Miss Schumacher, 22 years old, fashionably dressed and excited, had the letter in her hand when she called at Police Headquarters. It was written on the stationery of a downtown hotel, but Miss Schumacher said she did not think the writer stopped at the hotel.

She said she had known the writer, a young man, for five or six months. She went on a visit to Chicago after quarreling with him a couple of weeks ago, she said, and since her return she received three threatening letters, all declaring that the writer was contemplating her death.

The third letter, the one she showed Gillaspy, said that unless she gave the writer $10 to pay railroad fare, his threat would be put into execution at once.

Gillaspy told the young woman that the police could do nothing except arrest the suspected letter writer on a charge of disturbing her peace and that, if she wanted to proceed against him on a more serious charge, she should apply to the postoffice authorities. She left, taking the letter with her.

When a Post-Dispatch reporter called at Miss Schumacher's home Monday she would not discuss the incident.

FORMER LUMBERJACK BUYSTOWN

Joseph Perron Acquires Every Building in Northland, Mich.

ESCANABA, Mich., April 26.—Joseph Perrow, an Escanaba man, has closed a deal whereby he becomes owner of the village of Northland in Marquette County. He bought 35 dwellings and two stores, all of the buildings in the place.

Perrow's rapid rise from poverty to affluence reads like a fairy story. Ten years ago he worked in an Upper Michigan woods as a lumberjack. He saved his money, and now his desire to own a town is realized. The name of the village will be changed to Perrow.

FIRE THREATENS BUSINESS CENTER OF KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 26.—A fire which, for a time, threatened buildings in the heart of Kansas City's principal business district, early this morning resulted in the total destruction of the Ridge Building, a four-story brick and stone office structure on Walnut street, near Ninth.

The fire was discovered at 2 o'clock in the basement of the building. Fed by old wooden floors and partitions, the blaze spread rapidly to every part of the interior of the building, and the efforts of the firemen were devoted principally to the saving of adjacent structures, including the six-story building on Main street, owned by the Ridge estate, which also owned the burned building. The total loss is estimated at $600,000.

The entire stock of the Olney Music Co., one of the occupants of the building, valued at $25,000, was destroyed. The insurance is said to cover considerably more than half of all the losses.

Only one person, Mrs. Hollington, who lived on an upper floor, was in the building when the fire was discovered. She was taken out unhurt. A stiff southeast wind fanned the fire and filled the air with sparks, starting half a dozen smaller fires, all of which were extinguished without appreciable damage.

WOMAN ASSERTS CARR CONFESSED TO KILLING GIRLS

DAYTON, O., April 26.—The arrest of Elmer Carr on a charge of arson, has been followed by a statement by Mrs. Carrie M. Middlestetter, who lived with Carr, in which she charges him with the brutal murder of Mary Forschner and Lizzie Fullhart, whose mysterious deaths, attended by unspeakable outrages, excited the people of Dayton last January.

Mrs. Middlestetter, whose association with Carr led her husband, a cheese manufacturer, to leave her, declares that Carr not only murdered the two girls but committed many other assaults on women and confessed to her that before he came to Dayton he had killed a young girl in Boston, N. Y., under circumstances similar to those which befell the two Dayton girls.

Ex-Convict, Says Woman.

Carr, she says, is an ex-convict, having served a term in Sing Sing, but she cannot tell for what crime.

Night after night, she says, he would go out in some disguise, generally made up as a negro or laborer, and would return with women's purses and pocketbooks, often torn or broken, which he would hand over to Mrs. Middlestetter's 14-year-old daughter, who lives with her.

The Dayton police are inclined to scout the woman's story, but detectives are busy looking up Carr's career.

YERKES' WIDOW IS POOR AND ILL; WARD IN LUXURY

Emilie Grigsby Has Luxurious Mansion, Mrs. Yerkes May Soon Be Homeless.

ESTATE IS TIED UP

Traction Magnate Failed to Make His Intended Provision for His Wife.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Mary Adelaide Yerkes, widow of the traction magnate who was supposed to be worth $20,000,000 when he died a few years ago, is critically ill in the Fifth avenue mansion her husband built for her. She remains in the house by sufferance because of her illness and when she recovers she will probably be ejected, as creditors claim the mansion and the valuable paintings and luxurious furnishings it holds.

The Underground Electric Railway of London has filed a claim of $800,000 against the estate, and the Bank of America has made a similar demand for $123,000. The decision of a Chicago court, where Yerkes' will was filed, will determine whether or not there will be anything left for the widow or where she must depend in the future on the bounty of friends.

Widow May Be Penniless.

As the search for assets progresses, friends of the widow fear it will be found when the accounts are audited that she will be not only homeless but literally penniless. Inspired by loyalty to her, they have suggested that she examine the legality of the gifts made by her husband to his beautiful ward, Emilie Grigsby.

These suggestions have been summarily dismissed by lawyers. They say that Miss Grigsby's rights are unassailable. She alone of those who enjoyed the traction king's riches in life is protected in them ofter his death.

She continues to reside in the white granite palace at Park avenue and Sixty-seventh street, which is not far from the Fifth avenue home where Yerkes' widow lies on her sick bed. The latter place rocks figuratively in the legal tempest which is howling around the estate, but 660 Park avenue rests secure in the storm.

Miss Grigsby Lives in Splendor.

Its windows were ablaze with light last night. All was dark in the widow's home. Miss Grigsby gave a dinner last night to a few friends, whom she received in the magnificent salon on the fourth floor.

Costly draperies hung from the solid oak beams which protrude at intervals of about ten feet from the ceilings and walls. Oriental carpets cover the polished floors, and the guests sat in gilded chairs of the Louis XIV period. After dinner, two automobiles carried Miss Grigsby and her friends to another entertainment.

Emile Grigsby's future is roseate. It is even more so than in the lifetime of Mr. Yerkes. At the close of his life, when his wife's hair was gray and his ward's golden, he provided that the happiness of the ward should endure. The fight over the estate shows also that he was indulgently solicitous for the woman with the gray hair, but last night she was confronted with the result.

"Sue" Grigsby's daughter moved in the atmosphere which Yerkes loved so dearly, while his widow, beset by debts, unlovely, and tossing on a bed of pain, pictured a phase of life which he abhorred.

Woman Still Radiant.

Yerkes' ward was never more radiant than last night when a negro footman threw wide the doors and ushered her to her automobile. An evening cloak covered a Parisian costume and her wealth of golden red hair was fashioned in an elaborate coiffure. Although more mature in her beauty, it was thus that Yerkes delighted to see her. It was thus that she compelled the attention of New York's smart set.

In the search recently to establish the manner in which Yerkes disposed of his riches, it came out that the Park avenue property stands in the name of Emily B. Grigsby. It is assessed at $110,000. Three years ago she was assessed for realty and personal property $500,000, but this has been cut down since. Her fortune has been estimated at from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Yerkes gave to his ward in 1898 the deed to the Park avenue mansion. She then was 19 years of age. That she also received sufficient to maintain it in undiminished splendor following his death is proved by her present mode of living.

Splendid Hangings Hide the Walls.

As she stood in the entrance last night, the walls of the high central hall furnished a background for her tall figure. They were half-concealed by Aubusson tapestries and medieval ecclesiastical draperies. The latter glistened with semi-precious stones used in the scheme of embroidery.

The art treasures which the house holds are little less valuable than those in the Fifth avenue mansion. The essential difference is that the widow's rights to the latter are assailed, although they constitute her sole tangible bulwark against poverty, while the ward can point to masterpieces on the walls, to priceless weaves, to statues and porcelains and say:

"These are mine to admire, smash or sell. My claims are incontestable."

Emilie Grigsby has enjoyed this right by gift ever since Yerkes first lavished his bounty on her. He became interested in her when she was a child, in Cincinnati.

"Sue" Grigsby is credited with saving for her daughter a large part of the wealth bestowed by Yerkes. Mrs. Mary Adelaide Yerkes also basked in her husband's lavishness, but depended on him to provide for her declining years. Lawyers engaged in the present litigation are met with proof that he intended to make such provision.

THE CAUSE OF COLDS

Good Advice Regarding The Prevention of Coughs and Colds

If people would only properly fortify and strengthen their system, about 98% of coughs, colds and pneumonia might be avoided. These troubles are simply the result of weakness, which produces a catarrhal condition of the mucous membrane, which is as an internal skin of the body. When this skin is weakened, it becomes infected with germs which are carried through the system by the blood. These parasites attack and break these delicate tissues and set up a soreness which produce what is in reality an external scrofula.

The only thing that will cure coughs and colds and prevent pneumonia is a medication which is absorbed and carried by the blood so that the diseased membrane is disinfected, cleaned, soothed and healed.

We have a remedy which we honestly believe infallible and unsurpassable for the prevention and cure of coughs, colds and all catarrhal conditions. It is the prescription of a famous physician, who has an enviable reputation of 30 years of cures gained through the use of this medicine. We promise to either effect a cure in every case or make no charge for the medicine. We urge everybody in St. Louis who has need of such a medicine to try Rexall Mucu-Tone.

It stands to reason that we could not afford to make such statements and give our own personal guarantee to this remedy if we were not absolutely positive that we could substantiate our claim in every particular, and we see no reason why anyone should hesitate to accept our offer and try it. We have two sizes of Rexall Mucu-Tone. Prices 50c and $1.00. Sometimes a 50c bottle is sufficient for a cure. As a general thing, the most chronic case is cured with an average of three large bottles. Remember, the medicine will cost you nothing if you are not satisfied in every particular. DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I suffered terribly from female ills, including inflammation and congestion, for several years. My doctor said there was no hope for me but an operation. I began takink Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I can now say I am a well woman."

EMMA DRAPER, Paw Paw, Mich.

Another Operation Avoided.

Chicago, Ill.—"I want women to know what that wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Two of the best doctors in Chicago said I would die if I did not have an operation, and I never thought of seeing a well day again. I had a small tumor and female troubles, so that I suffered day and night. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me a well woman."—MRS. ALVENA SPERLING, 11 Langdon St., Chicago, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including inflammation, fibroid tumors, backache, hot flashes, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

BRANDENBURG TO FIGHT FOR BOY AND HIS LIBERTY

Will Resist Extradition Proceedings and Father's Demand for Cabanne Child.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Broughton Brandenburg, magazine writer, arrested here for the kidnaping of James Shepard Cabanne III, declares he will resist extradition to New York on the larceny charge, arising from the sale of the so-called Cleveland letter; that he will make a fight for the possession of the Cabanne boy, whose father is on the way here, and that the courts must decide the child's custody. Mrs. Cabanne, who, he now admits, is not his lawful wife, is being sued for divorce in St. Louis.

She telegraphed the prisoner from New York to do all in his power to hold the boy. A message was also received from District Attorney Jerome of that city to hold Brandenburg in not less than $20,000 bail.

Friends of the writer and his attorney will hold a conference today to outline plans to resist extradition and to straighten out the other ends of the case.

SHERIFF IS PUZZLED BY WRIT AGAINST ST. LOUIS TRANSIT CO.

County Official Pigeonholes Document to Await Future Developments.

Sheriff Grueninger of St. Louis County feels like a pig in a poke. He has a writ to serve on the St. Louis Transit Co. Puzzle: Find the Transit Co.

Christ Mertens of St. Louis, who was injured by a Transit Co. car Dec. 2, 1902, at Natural Bridge road and Vandeventer avenue, sued for damages, taking a change of venue to St. Louis County. He got judgment against the Transit Co. Jan. 14, 1905, for $1500, with 6 per cent interest. Shortly afterward the Transit Co. merged with the United Railways Co., and ceased to be.

Monday morning in the Clayton Circuit Court, Mertens got a writ of execution against the Transit Co. for the $1500 and accrued interest. Sheriff Grueninger, when the writ was handed to him to serve, read the document dubiously.

"Here's something to do that I can't do," he said. "There is no St. Louis Transit Co. I can't serve this writ, so I'll just pigeonhole it and await further instructions."

MUSICAL FESTIVAL CHORUS TO REHEARSE AT THE ODEON

Sale of Seats for Next Week's Event at Coliseum Is in Progress.

The sale of seats for the St. Louis Musical Festival, which will open next Sunday afternoon in the Coliseum, began Monday morning at Bollman Bros.' store.

Monday evening there will be a rehearsal of the mixed chorus of 500 voices, made up from local singing clubs and choirs, in Entertainment Hall, on the fifth floor of the Odeon Building.

The five performances at the Coliseum will be given Sunday afternoon and evening, Monday evening and Tuesday afternoon and evening, May 2, 3 and 4. The New York Symphony Orchestra, Walter Damrosch conductor, will appear at each concert.

Soloists engaged include Olive Fremstad, Louise Homer, Corinne Rider-Kelsey, David Bispham, Gustave Holmquist, Reed Miller and Mme. Van der Veer. Mme. Fremstad and Mme. Homer are from the Metropolitan Opera Co. of New York. Hundreds of singers, chosen from the various singing societies of St. Louis, will provide the grand chorus for each concert. The opening performance Sunday afternoon will be a grand Wagner concert, with chorus singing by leading German singing societies. At the closing event in the series, the evening of May 4, there will be a mammoth chorus of 1500 pupils from the graded public schools, in folk songs and patriotic airs, and 1000 voices from the high schools rendering operatic and sacred choruses.

NEWSBOYS PERMITTED AT UNION STATION, SAYS YOUNG

Sergt. Meehan, Misconstruing Captain's Order, Drove Paper Venders Away.

Sergt. Meehan of the Union Station squad, acting on his interpretation of instructions received from Capt. Young of the Central District, has driven all the newsboys from the Station corner at Eighteenth and Market streets. He has also forbidden them to sell their papers at the Market street and the Eighteenth street entrances.

Among the news merchants dispersed by Meehan is "Blind" Douglas, a sightless man, who has been selling papers near the Station for two years.

Capt. Young said Monday that his orders were misconstrued by Meehan.

"I told him to regulate the newsboys—not to run them away," he said.

"I received a complaint from Special Agent Mitchell of the Terminal Association, who said that newsboys congregate in groups of eight or ten, and make so much noise that it interferes with the work of officials and clerks in the Terminal offices.

"I went up there Saturday afternoon and told the newsboys that they ought to scatter, or not cry their papers so loudly. I instructed Meehan to see that they did this. If he has ordered them away, he has done it through a misunderstanding. I shall have his order rescinded."

GIRL GLAD POISON DID NOT KILL HER—EAGER TO LIVE

She Swallowed Acid After a "Spat" With Her Sweetheart—Is 17 Years Old.

Hilda Wagner recovered consciousness in St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, Monday morning, and said she was glad the carbolic acid did not kill her, and she was eager to try life again. Hilda has seen only 17 years of life thus far.

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock the girl was found lying on the pavement in front of 127 North Fifth street suffering from carbolic acid poisoning. She was taken to the City Hospital, where she told her name and address, and talked with her mother before unconsciousns came. She lives at 112 Collinsville avenue, and is employed in a candy store near her home.

Hilda had what she called a "spat" with her sweetheart, Martin Walsh, Sunday afternoon. She told the police she went to Martin's home on Collinsville avenue Sunday to see him, but he was out. Later, "toward evening," she was with him.

The girl refused to tell what caused the "spat." She did not take very much of the poison, the doctors say, and she will recover. Some of Hilda's friends hint that she did not intend to kill herself, and that the girl's ignorance of the deadly nature of carbolic acid nearly frustrated her plan.

MINISTER-FAN TELLS FLOCK TO TOE THE PLATE AND SWAT

"Don't Fan When the Bases Are Full; the Lord Hates a Quitter," Is Baseball Pastor's Sermon.

SPOKANE, Wash., April 26.—The Rev. Dr. William J. Hindley, minister of the gospel and baseball fan, preached a baseball sermon to his flock in Pilgrim Congregational Church at the opening of the League season in Spokane, speaking of life as a confirmed "rooter" would expound the rules of the game. He said in part:

"For the sake of the team and for the sake of the game, stand up to the plate. If you can't line out a home run maybe you can drop a Texas leaguer back of second that will do almost as much good. But bend every effort to meet the ball and not to fan when there are men on the bases waiting to score. Fight until the last man is out. God Almighty doesn't like a quitter.

"If there is any man in the world who has my entire sympathy it is the umpire. He is ostracised by the players and regarded with suspicion by the public—and, I think, unjustly."

Operation Was Successful.

From the Houston Post.

"How is Dr. Jones getting on?"

"Doing wonderfully well."

"Do you suppose he will succeed in carving out a fortune?"

"I guess so; he removed the appendix of our wealthiest citizen a couple of weeks ago."

"The appendix, eh? What did he get out of it?"

"An automobile."

WILL WED MAN WHOSE STEAMER SHE CHRISTENED

Miss Blanche Boehm and I. I. Spiro Will Be Married at the Southern.

Miss Blanche Boehm, daughter of Sol Boehm of 3806 Delmar boulevard, will be married at 7 p. m. Tuesday at the Southern Hotel to I. I. Spiro, president of the company which owns the lake liner "United States." Miss Boehm christened the liner Washington's Birthday.

When the news first reached St. Louis that Miss Boehm had christened the "United States" at Manitowoc, Wis., a great deal of curiosity was aroused as to why she had been selected. Only relatives and intimate friends knew that the two were engaged.

Rabbi Leon Harrison will perform the ceremony. The bride will be given away by her father. Dr. Joseph L. Boehm, brother of the bride, will act as best man, and her sister, Mrs. B. J. Malbrunn, will attend Miss Boehm. Only relatives will be present at the ceremony.

A dinner will be given by the bride's father in the Southern after the marriage, after which the pair will start for a trip East. In the summer they will go abroad.

The ship which Miss Boehm christened is the first of its kind to be launched on the Great Lakes. Larger than the Northland and Northwest it is built for ocean voyages and will travel from Duluth to New Orleans.

The County Fair at the Missouri Athletic Club Tuesday night will have many features. Booths devoted to poultry, dairy and cereal displays will vie with those stocked with samples of cake, baking and fancy needlework, entered by wives of club members. A merry-go-round and cane rack are among the side shows. The shows and booths will close at 10:30 o'clock to give way to events in the arena, such as wheelbarrow and obstacle races, greased pole and catching the greased pig contests. Some of the attractions and those in charge are as follows:

Animals, Jos. Lyden.
Side show, Nathaniel Klien.
Dairy, Bershold Loewenstien.
Baby incubators, Gene Plietsch.
Fancy needlework, Roscoe Shaw.
Merry-go-round, Medrish Stocton.

3 INJUNCTIONS AGAINST ROADS ARE DISMISSED

Circuit Attorney Withholds Action on 15 Others, Pending Federal Suit.

The injunction suits against the Burlington, Chicago & Alton and Kansas City Southern railroads were dismissed in Judge Williams' court Monday by Circuit Attorney Jones. The injunction suits against the other 15 roads, to restrain them from enforcing an alleged illegal agreement to restore the 3-cent passenger rate, were not taken up for argument on account of Federal Judge Phillips' injunction against Gov. Hadley and Circuit Attorney Jones.

John Kennish, former Assistant Attorney-General, who appeared with Circuit Attorney Jones, told Judge Williams he did not care to take any chances with Judge Phillips' injunction until he knew whether or not the State will be permitted to proceed with the cases.

Judge Williams said he would pass on the question of his own jurisdiction in the case by 5 p. m. Monday, and also would determine whether the State will be required to give bond to indemnify the railroads against loss. The railroads demanded a bond for $1,000,000, stating through their attorneys, that each road enjoined from enforcing the 3-cent fare is losing from $2000 to $3000 a day.

George Jackson of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Martin L. Clardy of the Missouri Pacific, James L. Minnis of the Wabash, and Samuel West of the Cotton Belt, appeared for the railroads. Mr. Clardy, in arguing the matter of jurisdiction, declared he had always been in favor of government by injunction, but with the tangle arising over the railroad rate question, he has changed his mind. Attorney Jackson said the Burlington and Chicago & Alton Railroads, which have adopted the 2½-cent rate, are the only ones in a conspiracy against the State.

HENRY HASHAGEN MUST SERVE SIX MONTHS IN COUNTY JAIL

He Loses Appeal After Being Convicted of Perjury in Bankruptcy Case.

Henry Hashhagen, convicted of perjury in connection with the bankruptcy case of his brother, Fred W. Hashagen, lost his appeal in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and will have to serve a six months' sentence in the Montgomery County Jail.

Hashagen was a witness before Referee in Bankruptcy Walter D. Coales, and testified that he knew nothing of any of his brother's assests being concealed. Other witnesses testified that they helped to bury a quantity of liquors and glassware under the cinders in the old Hashagen hall on South Broadway.

Hashagen was tried in the Federal District Court here, and was senteneced to six months in Jail. He took an appeal, but the higher ocurt affirmed the verdict of the trial court.

SEVEN MEN GET FINES OF $2600 FROM POLLARD

Judge Declares They Are Members of "Gang" Which He Would Break Up.

Judge Pollard, in the Dayton Street Police Court Monday, imposed fines on seven men, charged with disturbing the peace, aggregating $2600. He explained the severity of the punishment by saying the men were members of a "gang" and that he intended to break up "gangs" whenever they came under his jurisdiction.

The men were arrested on complaint of John Reed, an aged negro living at 6107 Minerva avenue. Reed testified that on Saturday afternoon when he was walking with his wife and son, James, they were stopped at Easton and Hamilton avenues by the gang.

He said the seven men taunted him, insulted his wife and threw bricks at them for no other reason than that they were negroes. One of the bricks struck Reed on the head, causing a scalp wound.

The men who were fined and the amount of the fines are:

Thomas Kelly, 2121 Division street, $500; Edward Hoff, 6213 Olive street road, $200; George Hertzing, 3907A Sheridan avenue, $200; Edward Ferrier, 2628 Gamble street, $500; Arthur Phillips, 1900 Branch street, $500; Arthur Schweitzer, 1430 North Twenty-second street, $500, and the latter's brother, Harry, $500.

All the men have come under police discipline before and the variation in fines was according to the seriousness of past offenses.

TASK OF GETTING JURORS FOR HAINS TRIAL IS RESUMED

New Panel of 150 Talesmen and 40 of Regular Panel Are Being Examined.

FLUSHING, N. Y., April 26.—The work of completing the jury for the trial of Capt. Peter C. Hains Jr. for killing William E. Annis at the Bay Side Yacht Club last August, was resumed before Justice Garretson in the Supreme Court here today. Seven jurors had been selected out of 348 talesmen examined during the five days of court last week.

A new panel of 150 talesmen, together with 40 talesmen of the regular court panel, is being examined today. It is expected several days will be required to fill the jury box.

Mothers

Don't let your boys and girls grow up flat chested, round shouldered men and women. Perhaps you are not aware that the reason children fail at school is because the blood which supplies the brain is laden with poisonous gases, which the child cannot throw out because of stooping shoulders, cramping the little lungs.

Two out of every three people you meet are round shouldered and flat chested.

Tens of thousands fall victims to painful and dangerous maladies, and attribute them to every cause save the right one—the habit of stooping shoulders. Put on your boys and girls and they will walk, stand and sit erect, breathe deep, and will grow into strong, healthy men and women. Your own doctor will recommend it. Reborn is the best garment on the market. It is made out of the best of material and weighs but three ounces, for men, women and children. Our sizes will fit any one from a four-year old child to a 300-pound man. Send full chest measure, and whether male or female. Price reduced from $2.00 to $1.00. At store or by mail. 3 days' free trial, money back if not satisfied. Free Booklet.

Reborn Compels Deep Breathing

WETS GAINING GROUND BEFORE STATE SENATE

Mrs. Ingalls Fears the Drys Are Being Undermined by St. Louis Delegation.

THE TAX RIDER HURTS

Additional Expenses by Residents of the State May Hurt the Bill, She Fears.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 26—Senator Greene, chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, has learned that only 18,633 persons, or less than 4 per cent of the total voting population of the State, have signed petitions urgin the Senate to submit to the voters in 1910 the question of a State-wide prohibition.

Although the active anti-prohibition campaign is only a few days old, at least 7500 signatures are attached to the documents opposing the prohibition resolution.

Those facts, legislative leaders say, will have an important bearing on the Senate action when the prohibition resolution is submitted to a finel vote.

"I had an idea, as did other senators, that probably more than 100,000 names were on the prohibition resolutions," said Senator Green to a Post-Dispatch correspondent today. "To get at the facts, I ordered my clerks to get every petition and analyze its indorsers, using care not to omit any names in the count.

"I am anxious that the committee should possess the most complete information bearing on the situation. The petitions received by the Senate would be compiled by counties so that we may know how the different sections of the State regard this question.

"I take it that the friends of prohibition are using their utmost endeavors to make the petition as general and voluminous as possible.

Cole County's petition on behalf of prohibition was one of the first examined. It included the names of men, women and children and represented less than 1 per cent of the county's population.

Jefferson City, which is the county seat of Cole County, sent in 200 names out of a population of 15,000, a comparatively weak showing, the "wets" say, when it is considered that the prohibition forces have concentrated their entire strength in this city and have been working valliantly here under the leadership of Mrs. E. B. Ingalls of St. Louis, and Rev. Ray Palmer, pastor of a local church.

If the petitions against prohibition continue coming as they have since the St. Louis delegation of business and financial representatives appeared here the Drys will find that they are in the minority so far as supporters pledged to their cause is concerned.

Mrs. Ingalls admitted to a Post-Dispatch correspondent today that the Drys apparently have lost ground since the visit of the St. Louis delegation.

Drys Hope for Majority.

Although Mrs. Ingalls refuses to make any comment for publication, it is known that the Drys are indignant over the interview of State Senator Peck to the effect that the fight for the submission of the prohibition amendment is lost, and that the Legislature should now adopt a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to investigate the liquor traffic in Iowa, Kansas, Maine and other prohibition states.

Senator Peck has been the acclaimed champion for the Drys, being himself a pronounced prohibitionist. Mrs. Ingalls believes the prohibition resolution will be submitted by a majority of two votes.

"If a tax rider is added that will defeat the whole thing," said she.

"We want a straight out amendment. I didn't think much of those men who came here from St. Louis to argue against prohibition. While I did not get up the circular telling who they were, I know the circular was correct.

"There were several, of course, who have been more or less prominent in the civic affairs of St. Louis, but they were few and far between. Most of them are the agents or friends of breweries and saloons."

"Would you mind naming the St. Louisans who came here as the representatives of liquor interests?" Mrs. Ingalls was asked.

"Anybody who attended the joint debate in the House could answer that question," she replied. "It is unnecessary to go into details."

Here are the senators who, according to Mrs. Ingalls' "tab, will vote for the submission of a prohibition amendment without a tax rider: Peck, Wilson, Humphrey, Stark, Chinn, Booth, Lane, Oliver, Garuner, Hudson, Fields, Drunert, Anthony, Grimes, McDavid, Dorris, Buford, Bradley, Major. Total, 19.

BOMB WRECKS CHURCH ALTAR

NEW ORLEANS, April 26.—The famous old St. Louis Cathedral in Chatres street, built more than one hundred years ago, was shaken yesterday by an explosion, believed to have resulted from the placing of a bomb in the south tower of the building. The church was practically empty, and no one was injured. One of the smaller altars was wrecked, and windows were broken. The damage amounts to about $2000.

Policemen express the belief that dissensions among workmen, engaged in making repairs in the south tower, may explain the explosion.

Last Week of Beautiful Hand Contest Starts With Many New Pictures Received

These are some of the latest photographs sent by entrants in the Post-Dispatch prize contest which will close on Friday, April 30, at noon.

$100 FOR THE PRETTIEST HAND.

It does not really matter whether the hands of St. Louis women are larger than the hands of any other women in the country or not, for St. Louis women have the prettiest hands. That is what the glove salespeople tell us. In order that the world may see the beautiful hands of St. Loius women, the Post-Dispatch has decided to open a contest. We want to collect photographs of the loveliest hands and offer One Hundred and Fifty Dollars in prizes for them.

To the lady possessing the most beautiful hand in St. Louis the Post-Dispatch will pay (IN GOLD)	$100 00
To the lady whose hand is the SECOND choice of the judges the Post-Dispatch will pay (IN GOLD)	25 00
To the lady whose hand is the THIRD choice of the judges the Post-Dispatch will pay (IN GOLD)	15 00
To the lady whose hand is the FOURTH choice of the judges the Post-Dispatch will pay (IN GOLD)	10 00

Send the best photograph of your hand that you can obtain to the HAND CONTEST EDITOR, POST-DISPATCH. Write your name and address on the back of the photograph.

The photographs will be submitted to a Board of Judges, which will include artists who are competent to pass upon the merits of the hands. The names of the judges will not be made public until the awards are made. The judges may require to see some of the hands when they have eliminated the less beautiful by examination of the photographs. If so, notices will be sent for a meeting at a suitable time and place.

The Post-Dispatch has arranged with the Murillo Studio to take photographs of contestants who receive orders from the Hand Contest Editor.

The contest will close Friday, April 30, at noon, and photographs received after that date will not be considered.

OLD HOTEL METROPOLE PASSES

Sporting Men and Actresses in Farewell Banquet.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Two hundred of the habitues of the famous Hotel Metropole at Forty-second street and Broadway said good-by to the old place last night in a farewell banquet in the Rathskeller. The hotel, which has been for many years headquarters for theatrical people and sporting men, will be torn down at once to make way for a giant skyscraper.

Among those at the farewell supper last night were James J. Jeffries, James J. Corbett, George Fuller Goldan, "Big Tim" Sullivan, Senator McCarren, Eugene Woods, Leila McIntyre and Nora Bayles.

DEATH, NOT SLEEP, RESULTED FROM LAUDANUM DOSE

"I Guess I'll Get Some Sleep Now—I've Taken Enough," Said R. S. Campbell.

Provoked because he could not sleep, Robert Scott Campbell, aged 47, 3942 Cleveland avenue, took enough laudanum to cause his death. The Coroner's verdict Monday was that Mr. Campbell died from an overdose of poison, accidentally administered.

Mr. Campbell, who had been making a round of the country towns near St. Louis, returned home Friday and complained to his wife that he was troubled with insomnia. He went to bed at 10:30 p. m. Saturday, but could not sleep.

About 1 a. m., according to the testimony of Mrs. Jessica Campbell at the inquest, he arose and took a dose of laudanum.

"I suppose I will get more sleep now," he remarked as he returned to his bed. "I have taken enough laudanum."

His remark alarmed Mrs. Campbell. She induced him to take an antidote. He drank two glasses of hot salt water, a glass of sweet milk, a cup of strong coffee and took some aconite, but these remedies failed to offset the effects of the drug, and he fell to the floor.

Mrs. Campbell called William H. Hardcastle of 3942A Cleveland avenue and he assisted her in trying to save the life of her husband. They sent for Dr. E. T. Tiedemann of 3635 Cleveland avenue, but Mr. Campbell was dead when the physician arrived.

Campbell was a man of powerful constitution, weighing 220 pounds, and had a habit of treating himself for ordinary ills. Mrs. Campbell testified that he would sometimes take 40 grains of quinine at a time, and that he frequently used generous quantities of laudanum.

RABIES ATTACKS SHEEP FLOCK

Epidemic Appears After Mad Dog Bites One.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 26.—An epidemic of rabies has appeared in a flock of sheep owned by Harry Bower of Lansing, near this city. Five are already affected. A few days ago a mad dog ran through the town and bit one of the sheep. The animal was shot and his brain showed he had rabies.

The sheep were carefully watched. Some acted queerly. They were immediately separated from the others, but it is believed the whole flock of 16 will be affected.

FINDS LITTLE CRITICISM OF HARRIMAN IN THE FAR WEST

Insurance President Declares Magnate's Plans Are Recognized as Involving Best Interests.

NEW YORK, April 26.—After telling of the solidity and remarkable growth of the cities on the Pacific coast and in the Far West, Darwin P. Kinsley, president of the New York Life Insurance Co., who has just returned from a trip of 10 weeks, said:

"I found that the mighty man in all that region is E. H. Harriman. I found little criticism of him even in California. On the contrary, his plans and purposes are recognized everywhere from New Orleans to Seattle, as involving the best interests of all the Pacific and inter-mountain region.

"San Francisco, Los Angeles, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, Spokane, Salt Lake City and Denver are all making the most remarkable progress, a progress which should make every American feel proud."

Unnecessary.

From the Chicago News.

"And," he continued, as if offering an irresistible inducement, "I will promise to let you have your own way in everything after we are married."

"Oh, that isn't necessary," she replied.

"But I thought all women liked to have their own way?" he said.

"Of course they do," she answered. "I was merely referring to your promise."

WOLVES ROAM CHICAGO SUBURB

CHICAGO, April 25.—Two large gray wolves which escaped from their owner, W. C. Dubrock of Rogers Park, a suburb, were captured by detectives and returned to their quarters. Residents were afraid to leave their homes while the animals were at large.

Less than a month ago one of Dubrock's wolves broke loose and was retaken after it had inflicted severe bites upon the officers who were sent after it.

INFECTION AND CONTAGION
HOUSEHOLDERS CAUTIONED.
Disinfect Freely this Spring.

Infectious and contagious diseases are prevalent. The use of a reliable disinfectant protects the household. The last thing at night pour into the closets, wash basins, sinks, etc., just a little Platt's Chlorides. All places where disease germs may develop should be freely sprinkled with a mixture of one (1) part Platt's Chlorides and ten (10) parts of water. Do not neglect a liberal sprinkling of the cellar. To remove objectionable odors where sprinkling is inadvisable, keep a cloth or sponge moistened with the dilution mentioned. A little extra care just now may prevent much sickness and expense. SUMMER GARDEN SEASON BEGINS IN FINE SPIRIT

Lovely Spring Afternoon and Evening Mark Forest Park Highlands Opening.

GREAT CROWDS ATTEND

Band Concerts, Vaudeville Theater and Amusement Concessions Thronged.

JOCUND spring stood tiptoe, not on the misty mountain tops but at the reasonably satisfying altitude of Forest Park Highlands yesterday, sounding to the multitudes her silvery trumpet call that bids all hearers hie them out into the sunlight and the open air.

Nearly 30,000 ozone-hungry souls obeyed the call.

It was a great day. It always is, this first day that marks the opening of the summer-garden season in St. Louis. Our humanity loves the wide expanse of out-of-doors, and there's no city in the world that boasts a prettier countryside of gently rolling hills and pleasant little valleys. Hence the gladness of St. Louisans when comes the time to enjoy these good things.

An Afternoon and Night Ambrosial.

Forest Park Highlands stands on the very crest of one of the loveliest western hills, with Forest Park stretching away to the north and a spacious sweep of picturesque vales south and east and west. In itself it's a sort of magical little city of holidaying illusion, built to please the eye, and nearly always its air is sweetened with music. Early yesterday afternoon, a soft, sunlit, yet hazy afternoon, the crowds began pouring through its inviting gates.

It came in vaster volume with the night, when the Highlands illumination made the velvety darkness radiant with a myriad luminous lamps, and great was the vernal rejoicing of the moment. Not until midnight did the throngs return to their homes. Who would waste so gorgeous an evening within four walls when "that inverted bowl we call the sky" was brilliant with the earliest nocturnal glory of the young spring and Forest Park Highlands was duly celebrating the fact?

Amusement Features Find Rich Harvest.

Anyway, we were all there, and every amusement feature of the Highlands was packed and jammed. The diverting Human Roulette Wheel spilled its laughing pawns of Adam's race to right and left, the onlooking crowds shouting with relish of their ludicrous mishaps. The scenic railway and the circle swing, and divers and sundry other concessions enjoyed a toll of the richest harvest. Cavallo's band played its sweetest at the Tekko Gate, and Myrna Sharlow, the high school girl soprano, sang delightfully with the band. In the theater a clever vaudeville bill made its varied appeal, its leading features being the Three Richardsons in their amusing character act, Harry Webb, the blackface comedian; Pero and Wilson, the barrel-jumpers; Pearl Allen and her clog dancing jockeys; the Chamberlains, expert lasso throwers. And the throngs were everywhere, having the best of times and breathing deep of hilltop oxygen.

It was a joyful sight to see.

BEGINS OLYMPIC ENGAGEMENT TONIGHT IN "THE TRUANTS"

MARY MANNERING.

ACCUSED MAN ENDS LIFE WITH POISON IN JAIL

John McCullough of Kirkwood, Mo., Charged With Offering Forged Check.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 26.—Fearing that he was about to be further punished for attempting to pass what is believed to be a forged check, John McCullough of Kirkwood, Mo., ended his life in the city jail early this morning. It is believed that he had a small quantity of cyanide of potassium concealed in his clothing and swallowed the deadly poison when in a despondent mood.

McCullough had been a prisoner in the city jail the past week. Early in the morning of April 19 McCullough, in company with a stranger named Yore, claiming Peoria as his home, attempted to pass a check in Young's saloon, on Monroe street. The check bore the name of J. McClain, and the men said they had received it at Alton, but later claimed they had found the paper. The check was drawn for $4.90.

Yore and McCullough had endeavored to get the checks cashed in a number of saloons before reaching Young's place. Here the bartender, Jesse Campbell, became suspicious, and caused the arrest of Yore and McCullough.

The police believed the pair might be wanted elsewhere, and asked for information from authorities in other cities.

The prisoners were held on a drunk and disorderly charge until outside information was received. Shortly before 4 o'clock this morning prisoners in the City Jail discovered something was wrong with McCullough and officers summoned a physician. The man died in a few minutes and the physician stated poison was undoubtedly the cause of death.

The body was taken to Kirlin & Egan's and Coroner Rhodes will hold an inquest tomorrow. But little is known of the dead man's history. According to Yore, McCullough was a railroad man and had arrived in Springfield to seek work the day before they were imprisoned.

Son Goes for Body.

McCullough has a brother, Thomas, who is a Frisco conductor, and lives in Kirkwood. Joseph F. McCullough, a son, who is employed in the Information Bureau at the Union Station, departed early Monday for Springfield to take charge of the body. He was expected to return at 6 p. m. The son's home is at 4040 Delmar boulevard.

FOUR REMARRY AFTER APOLOGY TO THE CHURCH

After a public apology for being married by the pastor of the Independent Polish Church, at Eleventh and Chambers streets, two couples were remarried according to the laws of the Catholic Church at St. Stanislaus', on North Twentieth street, by the Rev. Father Urban Stanowski, at 5:30 a. m. Monday. The public apologies were read to the congregation of St. Stanislaus' by Father Stanowski at the Sunday morning services.

The apologies read: "We, the undersigned, Adam Tocylowski and Katharzyna Motwicka, do hereby publicly beg pardon of the whole Polish community of St. Louis for the scandal we have given in getting married by the fallen-off and schismatic priest, Mirek. We promise to repair this scandal by exemplary life and good behavior in the future."

A similar apology was signed by Alexandra Romanowski and Appolonia Wasilewska. The first couple were married May 12, 1908, and the second June 2, 1908.

Both husbands go to work early in the day and arranged with Father Stanowski to perform the remarriage ceremony at 5:30 a. m. Father Stanowski met them at the church at that hour and they were married at the altar.

Tocylowski told Father Stanowski that he had attended St. Casimir's Church after he came to St. Louis, but that he was ejected from there one Sunday after paying 10 cents for a seat in a pew. He was turned over to a policeman, who was a Pole, he said, and the policeman advised him to spend his dime for beer rather than for a pew at St. Casimir's.

BURGLAR'S BREATH AWAKENS WOMAN; AWED BY REVOLVER

Fear Keeps Her Silent Until Intruder Takes Valuables and Disappears.

The warm breath of a burglar as he bent over her face and felt beneath her pillow for valuables awakened Mrs. Albert Dyer, wife of a street car conductor, in her home at 3837 Folsom avenue, shortly after 4 a. m. Monday, and as she sat up in bed she gazed into the barrel of a revolver and was commanded to remain silent.

Fear prevented Mrs. Dyer from making an outcry and she trembled as she watched the burglar gather up her husband's uniform, money changer and gold watch. As the burglar backed out of the room, he kept his revolver leveled at Mrs. Dyer, and again warned her to keep still, under penalty of death.

When she heard the burglar close the front door Mrs. Dyer awakened her husband. He called the police, but before their arrival the burglar had disappeared.

Mrs. Dyer said the burglar appeared to be about 45 years old. He was 5 feet 6 inches tall, and, despite the fact that the lower part of his face was masked behind a handkerchief, Mrs. Dyer believes she can identify him.

WESTON LEAVES SPRINGFIELD AFTER A REST OF TWO HOURS

Pedestrian Expects to Reach Carlinville on Long Hike Before Nightfall.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 26.—After two hours' rest at the Silas Hotel Edward Payson Weston, the long-distance walker, left Springfield at 11 o'clock for Carlinville.

Weston arrived on the outskirts of the city this morning at 9 o'clock and was met by Chief of Police Kramer and Policeman Bogardus with a company of local walking enthusiasts. They proceeded to the Silas Hotel, where the pedestrian took his brief rest.

"I expect to make at least 70 miles today," Weston said, "and I never felt in a better condition." In his room at the hotel Weston rested in a dressing sack with his feet in soft slippers.

Weston's feet are in perfect condition, probably due to the great care he takes of them. From Springfield Weston follows the right-of-way of the Alton to Carlinville, where he expects to be before nightfall. John C. Skinkel, manager for Weston, was in the city and arranged for the traveler's comfort during his short stay.

BOY STRUCK BY BASEBALL DIES FROM HEART STROKE

Paralysis Results From Injury to Eye Inflicted at Garfield School Playground.

Albert Hahn, 8 years old, of 2847 South Jefferson avenue, who was struck in the eye by a baseball two months ago, died Sunday night at the City Hospital from paralysis of the heart, caused by the accident. The boy was playing at recess in the yard of the Garfield School, Wyoming street and Jefferson avenue, when a foul ball batted over the fence by another boy struck him. He went home with a swollen eye, but did not complain.

March 21 the boy became seriously ill and was taken to the hospital, where he lay in a comatose condition until his death. The surgeons said the blow on the eye had caused paralysis of the brain, which finally extended to the heart.

CRATES OF AMERICAN SNAKES TO BE TRADED OFF ABROAD

NEW YORK, April 26.—Raymond L. Dittmars, curator of the reptile house at the Bronx zoo, will start for Europe May 8, with several crates of poisonous American snakes and a number of surplus animals born in the zoo. These he will trade to the zoological gardens in England, Germany, France and other countries for other snakes and animals which the Bronx zoo desires.

In specially constructed crates he will take a dozen diamond rattlers, a dozen common rattlers, a dozen vipers, a dozen coral snakes, several lance-head vipers from South America, a dozen moccasins and a few other deadly reptiles. In exchange for these Mr. Ditmars will bring back specimens of the cobras and other deadly snakes which are found in the East.

The snakes and small animals of the Bronx zoo have been multiplying so rapidly that it has been found advantageous to trade them abroad for specimens not represented here.

A GUN IN THE HOUSE.

The 9-year-old Keokuk boy who shot and killed the man who had spanked him says he didn't know it was loaded.

Men with beards, men who are supposed to have reached years of discretion, can learn something from this pitiful homicide; don't imagine for a moment that a child has no self-respect, is not sensitive as older people, and does not resent treatment, even in sport, which wounds his dignity and produces shame. Children are not playthings and their use is not primarily to afford amusement for their grown up friends.

Another suggestion may be useful to all the world. Guns are dangerous toys when they are loaded, and nobody can ever tell when they are loaded. Hence, the practical conclusion that they are always dangerous. The only use for a gun is for legitimate hunting purposes. All else is abuse and abomination. The vast majority of people have no use for a gun at any time, and there is no good reason why they should own one. Hunters should keep theirs under lock and key, where all persons who do not know it is loaded cannot get at it for innocent or felonious purposes.

It does not seem probable that this Keokuk infant intended to do more than get revenge by scaring the man who had degraded him. But, however that may be, the gun ought not to have been within his reach. One man killed and one boy with a darkened future—that is what came of a gun in the house.

UNCONVENTIONAL IDA TARBELL.

According to Miss Ida Tarbell "the estimated tariff profits on the Steel Trust alone in 1907 were $80,000,000. Who got the money? Go look at the steel palaces and chateaux in New York and Paris."

Miss Tarbell forgets the workingmen. Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Cannon tell us the tariff is to protect the free-born American labor against the pauper labor of Europe. We all agree that this is true. It is conventionally true. And does Miss Tarbell expect to prevail against it by bringing forward nothing but the actual truth?

This terrible woman carries her irreverence so far as to say shocking things about the gentlemen who have procured the tariff for the conventional American workman (actually a Slav or a Czech or a Hungarian), the gentlemen, who, she says, "figure in divorce and murder trials or write their names on foundations and bequests to institutions." And then she points to their "sodden minds, dulled vision and unfeeling hearts."

Miss Tarbell is too unconventional. If the solemnest of all the solemn plausibilities of American life is attacked in this reckless fashion, what becomes of the reverence which the people ought to feel for success and respectability? The lady is a mischief maker.

THIS COURT FIXED RATES.

Admitting the Court had no power to fix rates, Federal Judge Trieber nevertheless ordered the Arkansas railroads to put into effect a freight rate one-third higher than that ordered by the State Railroad Commission. The Commission's rate was declared non-compensatory and the rate fixed by the railroads after the other was forbidden by injunction, was declared excessive.

Judge Trieber went farther. He told the State and railroad officials if they did not agree upon the one-third higher rate he would appoint a master to fix it, holding the matter within the power of the court pending final hearing in the injunction proceedings.

Certain of the correctness and justice of his findings, this Judge used his utmost endeavors to end the litigation. He not only decided the question at issue, but pointed the way to agreement. It is as if Judge McPherson had counseled the parties in the Missouri case to agree on a 2 1-2-cent rate because it was fair to both of them. He did, as a matter of fact, say it was the fair rate, but without advising that it be imposed. It is not unlikely the disagreement in Arkansas will end with this decision, probably because further litigation would only confirm its justness.

REAL POPULAR SENTIMENT.

The division in the prohibition forces on the question of submission is so manifest that the overwhelming majority of senators who oppose prohibition should be convinced that there is no foundation for the assertion of a great popular demand for a vote on the issue.

Senator Peck, the only avowed prohibitionist in the Senate, has abandoned hope of submission and refuses to mourn over its expected defeat. He says that either the tax rider should be on the amendment, if submitted, or at least the people should be thoroughly informed of the necessity of increasing taxation under prohibition before they vote on the question. The Senator thinks the question can wait a few years longer for a fuller understanding of it by the people, and to this end suggests a commission. To a Post-Dispatch correspondent he said:

"If the submission resolution is beaten—and I anticipate it will be—I am going to introduce a bill to have a commission appointed to investigate prohibition in other states and make a report when the next Assembly meets."

The Rev. E. F. Jones, State secretary of the Anti-Saloon League, frankly admits that he is not anxious for the submission of the prohibition amendment to the people at this time. He and his co-workers do not believe the people of the State are ready for prohibition. They are working for stronger local option measures.

The only backing of the prohibition measure is the prohibition party, which represents a small percentage of the voters. Against it is a great and growing element who see in prohibition a futile destruction of valuable property, an attack upon business interests which threatens incalculable damage and a menace to morality and order in the larger cities. This element believes in local option and strict regulation of saloons in communities where they are permitted to exist.

The Legislature will meet the demand of an overwhelming majority of the people if it shall drop the submission resolution and strengthen regulation. The adoption of Gov. Hadley's program in the main would meet the needs of the State and have a salutary effect upon public opinion.

WHAT PATTEN DID.

The sum of actual information from the wheat pit is that James A. Patten is in New Mexico and the price of wheat for May and July deliveries has fallen. Less the amount consumed there is as much wheat as when Patten began his operations. He began by buying. Buying is the one argument that supports the prediction of higher prices. Patten bought first and talked afterwards. He said there was a shortage. He emphasized this statement by declaring the new crop prospects were poor.

The quantity of wheat available for the world's use is known with reasonable certainty. There are daily reports of the visible supply. The amount in the bins of the farmers is estimated with fair accuracy. But what were figures in the face of the calm assertion of this man who supported his contention that there wasn't enough wheat by buying at any price?

There was no one to deny or disprove his assertions. What he said about present supply as well as about crop prospects—concerning which he was supposed to have some particular information—was accepted blindly by everyone. Only Secretary of Agriculture Wilson was incredulous. He had his own ideas and his own sources of information. But what were mere farmer agents of the Government when against the wheat sleuths of a wizard willing to buy at any price? Secretary Wilson was wiped off the slate. His remarks were the vaporings of a mere official.

Many continued to buy wheat under Patten's leadership. Naturally, the price went higher and higher. Cries of alarm were raised. Cash wheat commanded ridiculous prices. There was talk of a bread famine. Congress was appealed to. Patten remained calm. He insisted there was no corner and resented indignantly the charge of manipulation. He said he was buying wheat because it was going higher and it was going higher under the operation of the inexorable law of supply and demand.

Patten was apparently the one authority on wheat. What he said was gospel. Anyone with a supply of wheat or anything else can get rich by convincing people they should buy his goods at a high price.

Patten seems to have done it. Having done it he has vanished, and his web of delusion vanished with him.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Some Who Would Suffer.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A correspondent in your paper signing himself Depositor wants to know how prohibition could harm St. Louis, and while I am no authority on the subject, I think I can show him. In the first place I am one who is not addicted to the use of intoxicants and have no interest in breweries, but am simply a laboring man whose only ambition is to own a home and provide for those depending on me. Should prohibition prevail, thousands of men working at the breweries would be compelled to sacrifice their homes and if I was compelled to sell my house through sickness or other misfortunes I would not be able to get one-third of what the house cost me. Prohibition would throw out of work 20,000 brewery workers. Over 500 cigarmakers (most of their product is sold in saloons); would ruin over 100 grocers and butchers in South St. Louis, 1500 coopers, over 1000 waiters; would no doubt put a number of banks holding brewery paper out of business, and a good many men would go over to East St. Louis and squander their money on gambling and drink. As for the moral side of the question, a great many girls go to perdition through love of fine clothes and jewelry. Still I have heard of no one starting a movement to close jewelry or dry goods stores.

WILLIAM HUBERT.

To a Lonesome Woman.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A Lonesome Woman, reading your letter in this evening's paper, will say that the nicest thing you can do is to adopt a baby. I have done so and I love my adopted baby better than anything on earth. I took her when she was only a few days old. She is certainly the sunshine of our home. There has not been one minute that I regret having taken her, and the older she grows the more we love her. I think the best place to take a baby from is a foundling home and as young as you can get it.

A LOVER OF BABIES.

Mr. Judson's Arguments.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

How illogical the advocates of the liquor traffic are! Unless prohibitory liquor laws can be shown to work perfectly (and that, too, in advance of their enactment, mark you, then to enact them is unwise, immoral, and conducive to hypocrisy, say these gentlemen. I challenge Mr. Frederick N. Judson to place his finger upon a single legal enactment in all the history of this State, and say, this law worked perfectly and never failed to accomplish the purpose intended. Laws relating to revenue and taxation are constantly evaded and defeated of their purpose, men and women are constantly stealing regardless of the laws prohibiting larceny; homicides, even murders are of common occurrence, notwithstanding the fact that this mighty commonwealth has exercised, and constantly does exercise, her greatest vigilance and most powerful agencies to prevent them. Under the reasoning apparent in Mr. Judson's article, these laws are of a questionable utility, and may as well be repealed. He points, indeed, to the law giving summary powers to the Excise Commissioner, and laments that under prohibition so good a law would necessarily have to be abandoned. I call Mr. Judson's attention to the fact that until Thos. E. Mulvihill was appointed Excise Commissioner in the city of St. Louis, this very law, now vaunted so highly, utterly and completely failed of its purpose. After its enactment, and until Mr. Mulvihill came into office, this law was practically a dead letter—it utterly failed to prohibit, and for that reason, according to Mr. Judson, should never have been enacted. It is now a good law, one to be parted with reluctantly because—it is being enforced. By the same token, are not prohibitory liquor laws equally good, if enforced?

J. B.

Thoughts on Prosperity.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A writer recently asked through your paper where "prosperity" was, as he had searched the city thoroughly for work and failed to find it. Notice in yesterday's paper you quoted from New York Tribune that prosperity was returning as shown in the increase in Treasury receipts. We now are enjoying prosperity. The trouble with the brother, he don't know what prosperity is. It is the running of machines to produce goods without regard to human happiness. It is the killing of 30,000 workingmen and women annually in the United States. It is gorging of capital at one end of the scale and making of life a fearful chance at the other. It is piling up of suicides and the insane until thinking men despair of the future of the race. In fact, it is the accumulation of other people's property. Admitting the above to be true, how long will it last? Won't someone wise enough and good enough bring us true prosperity? If this continues, what's to be done? The shoe industry, with the help of modern machinery can make in six months all the shoes the "market" can absorb. Are the shoemakers to go barefoot because they have produced too many shoes and are out of work half of the year? Are the mill hands to go naked because they have produced too much clothing? There are now thousands of able-bodied men willing to work who cannot earn enough money to buy back the things which their own hands have produced.

C. E. ELLIOTT.

A Contented Wife.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am very much interested in the discussion about woman loving home or dress, or both. I am married five years. My husband and I are still in our twenties, and I would not exchange my place with any single girl. Of course your home is just what you make it, and it depends on the man as well as the woman; if both are home-loving and both work together to make home happy it will be that way. I do all of my own work, including my sewing, and still find plenty of time to attend a matinee, or visit friends. But my greatest enjoyment is making my home pleasant and comfortable for my husband when he comes home from a hard day's work, and I succeed so well that I am never alone one evening; if he goes, we both go. Dress and fine clothes only give enjoyment for a short time, but a home, if properly cared for, will last a lifetime, and my advice to all girls is to get a home, for there is nothing prettier to me than a gray-haired couple who have spent their life together. To me that is all there is in this life worth living for.

MRS. J. S. LANE.

For the Baby's Sake.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In reply to Mrs. K. F., I wish to state that you are doing perfectly right by leaving your husband and taking the furniture with you. Never go back to him again, for a man who drinks will always promise that he will reform, but he hasn't will power enough to do so. I am a drunkard's wife myself and know what it is. I am earnestly thinking about taking the same steps you are going to take and would like to ask you or any other reader for advice. The reason I hesitate about leaving him is I have a baby 4 months old and the child needs considerable attention and therefore I'm afraid it would be hard for me to make my own living. I have a few hundred dollars and would like to buy a rooming house, but am afraid I probably may lose all I have if I should not be successful. Do you think I ought to stay with him until my baby is somewhat older? Life is a burden to me now and I haven't one happy day and my conscience tells me all the time to leave him. Will some kind reader please advise me?

THE PRESS ON PROHIBITION.

WHEN PROHIBITION FAILS.

From Collier's.

Why, then, do we refuse to join the prohibitionists? That question is what puzzles the national propagandists. They believe that whatever is good for man should be ladeled out to him. If he ought to bathe, have a policeman wash him. If he eats too much, stop him. If tobacco does harm, prohibit it. If sleeping on the side is healthier, prevent sleeping on the back. The truth is, of course, that law can successfully enact only the strong convictions of a strong majority. Many of us have multitudes of convictions which we are not stupid enough to press with force. The world one day may or may not abolish drink. All that can be said at present is that sweeping measures fail. Prohibition succeeds in districts, mostly in the country, where opinion is overwelming. It has proved impossible in great cities. It works indifferently in states like Maine, where opinion is divided closely. Even prohibition on one day in seven fails in most big towns. The topic is absurdly large for universal dogma, and therefore the old moralistic Prohibition party failed. The present wave is the spread not of a dogma, but of experience, and just as there is a tendency toward prohibition in homogeneous rural districts, West and South, so there is a tendency toward legalized Sunday opening in big towns. The subject is one for patience, study and experiment. Only limited points are distinct. The rest is fog.

IN PROHIBITION KANSAS.

From the Missouri Sharp Shooter.

In prohibition Kansas last week a man killed his wife and daughter in a beer-drinking brawl. So it seems that prohibition does not always prohibit.

KNOCKING OUT DEMOCRACY.

From the Iron County Register.

I am no Prohibitionist. That, I presume, within the very limited bounds where I am known, goes without the saying. I am a Democrat, and hold that there is limit to what the majority may rightfully do; that all other men combined have no just right to limit me by law in matters pertaining wholly to myself. I do not always admire the people who are themselves so good that their chief concern is for the proper habits and good morals of their neighbors. Often, I distrust either their sincerity or judgment, or both. Notwithstanding, the Register is for the submission of the liquor question to the people of the State. * * * * Let us vote on it and be done with it. If Democracy is to be knocked out alongside the Almighty Dollar, e'en so let it be. Let the tail go with the hide!

VOTE FOR PRINCIPLES.

From the Macon Times-Democrat.

If the people had declared for prohibition through either of the two political parties it would be the plain duty of the Legislature to submit the question to a vote. But both the Democratic and Republican parties have declared against it and both have favored local option. We do not believe a majority of the people of Missouri will vote for Statewide prohibition. The moral side of this question is not an issue now. The question for the Senate to decide is: "Shall the agitation for prohibition in Missouri be started now to continue until after November, 1910?" Isn't it proper to assume that if our people had wanted prohibition they would have declared for it in their party platform? And if a sentiment has been created since the last election, there is a means of bringing the question to a vote through the initiative and referendum. We sincerely hope that the Democratic Senate will refuse to be the cause of throwing this State into a useless and bitter agitation for two years, the effect of which will not be overcome for many years.

The very best politics our senators can play is to meet all public questions like virile men. They should refuse to commit their party by their action to any question which is contrary to the party's well-known principle.

BENEFITS OF DRY TIME.

From the Washington Blade.

"Prohibition will benefit the employes of the breweries," announced Senator Campbell.

Bart Ender refused to smile but looked his inquiry.

"Because the manufacture and sale of beer will not then interfere with feasting, going to baseball and playing penuchle. Every day'll be Saturday afternoon."

PLAYING POLITICS.

From the Greenville Sun.

Should the prohibition resolution be adopted by the Senate, which is overwhelmingly Democratic, it will not mean that the Democratic leaders are for prohibition, but that they are playing a political game. They are antiprohibitionists, but willing to take anything just at this time that may offer an opportunity to get hold of the votes of the people who have in late years turned against them.

REPENTANCE COMING.

From the Glasgow Missourian.

The Missouri Legislature seems to have gone daft over prohibition, and any law proposing to regulate the sale or use of liquor will go through the House like a bat through hades. By-and-by, possibly when it is too late, some of these "dry" Representatives will wonder why they didn't think first and act afterward, instead of reversing the process.

THE OCCASIONAL "BOOTLEGGER."

From the Dunklin Democrat.

It is a fact that local option is enforced in this county, better than any other law on the statutes. No one can regularly buy intoxicants in this county, though, of course, "bootleggers" occasionally slip in whisky.

It is best to be truthful, in any contest.

The county is satisfied with local option, and, we believe, would revote it if the question was again submitted.

Too Much.

The maid-of-all-work in the service of a Pottsville family, the members whereof are not on the most amicable of terms, recently tendered her resignation, much to the distress of the lady of the house, who was loath to part with so excellent a servant.

"So you are going to leave us?" asked the mistress sadly. "What's the matter, Mary? Haven't we always treated you like one of the family?"

"Yis, mum," said Mary, "an' I've shtood it as long as I'm goin' to!"—Harper's Weekly.

FIRED.

From the Pittsburg Gazette.

An Ohio girl refused a man named "Beefstake." Perhaps he wasn't sufficiently tender.

The Ithaca Spinning Circle.

Penelope occupied herself in spinning a shroud.

"Uylsses will need it if he tells me that detained at the office story," she explained.

Grimley she continued her task.—New York Sun.

Quite So.

"How can I show my love?"

"What do you mean?"

"Words are inadequate."

"I see. And kisses are insanity. It's a tough world."—Washington Herald.

"'TWAS IN 1909, THE YEAR"—

From the Indianapolis News.

And now Mombasa will have something to talk about for the rest of its life.

JUST A MINUTE.

THE REAL TARIFF PROBLEM.

O, have you heard about the scheme
They have to circumvent the tricks
Of all the tinkerers who mix
The tariff up with politics?
They want to have a bureau that
Will be nonpartisan and free
To take the tariff schedule up
And make it what it ought to be.

For after all the problem is,
Not one of hardware or foodstuff.
(They settle all these questions in Most countries easily enough)—
The greater tariff problem, and
What makes it chiefest of our banes,
Is rather what to do about
The Cannons, Aldriches and Paynes?

Pushing Business in the Ozarks.

We notice nearly all our country exchanges are calling on subscribers to pay up. This reminds us that the Sharpshooter has never in eight years called on a subscriber to pay up. Neither have we sent out a subscription bill to a subscriber. Neither have we ever solicited a subscription, advertising or job work in the last eight years, and yet we get along as well as people who are always dingdonging for advertising and subscription. We take it for granted that if anyone wants our paper they will take and pay for it, and if they don't want it what is the use bothering them? The same holds good in advertising.—Rolla (Mo.) Sharpshooter.

The Boonville Advertiser says the little Hadleys are playing on the lawn at Jefferson City, and that they are the only people up there who are doing anything.

In Our Own Balkans.

Last Sunday night was evidently "clean-up" time for the Greeks along the Burlington. At Easton, Stewartsville, Osborne, Chillicothe and Liberty the cars occupied by the Greeks were visited by bands of citizens and the occupants ordered out and told to "hit the grit."—Linneus (Mo.) Bulletin.

READER.—We don't know whether the railroad bridges you mention are unsafe or not. If not safe, they should be at once reported to the Railroad Commissioners at Jefferson City by anyone who knows the facts.

GRANDMA.—Aluminum cooking utensils are kept bright as new by rubbing with a polish made by dissolving 20 grams of borax in water to which one-third the quantity of ammonia is added. Shake the bottle of mixture well before using.

L. E. W.—One form of gambling is defined as pretending to buy or sell, depending upon chance variations in prices of grain. If Patten actually bought wheat and held it, this definition does not make him a gambler. The farmer who raises wheat and holds it for a price can hardly be called a gambler.

H.—Poe says of Coleridge's Christabel: "Out of a hundred readers of 'Christabel' 50 will be able to make nothing of its rhythm, while 49 of the remaining 50 will, with some ado, fancy they comprehend it after the fourth or fifth perusal. The one out of the whole hundred who shall both comprehend and admire it at first sight must be an unaccountably clever person; and I am by far too modest to assume, for a moment, that that very clever person is myself." Lockhart says: "The thing attempted in 'Christabel' is the most difficult of execution in the whole field of romance—witchery by daylight; and the success is complete. Who and what is Geraldine? What did the poet mean to make of her? What could he have made of her? Would he have gone on much farther without having had recourse to some of the ordinary shifts of witch tales?"

M.—Cleaning windows: If one is prepared for window cleaning on a damp day when just a mist appears upon the glass, then a dry rag and lastly a newspaper is all that is necessary if vigorously applied. Those who prefer to have windows washed with water will get best results by using only a small quantity of water, adding one or two teaspoonfuls of alcohol. The water should be warm, and a small chamois wrung out of the solution and applied to the windows will remove any dust, mark or stain. The pane should then be wiped with a dry, soft rag and finally polished with a dry chamois, or, better still, old newspapers. Both chamois and rags may possibly be in a condition to leave a streak or smear, but newspapers can be perfectly clean; besides, the printer's ink makes an excellent polish. The dry process shows better results if used on a bright, dry day, and is perhaps the best method of cleaning in very cold or frosty weather. A little whiting mixed to the consistency of cream, to which a few drops of ammonia have been added, is applied to the entire surface of the window with a small, soft rag, rubbing fairly hard. This is allowed to become perfectly dry, and is then removed with a large, soft cotton cloth without a nap. Cheese cloth is excellent, but nothing should be used that will leave lint. Lastly, polish with a clean chamois or with newspapers. Watch for any marks of the dry whiting left upon the sash. If the removal of this polish is not effected by a dry rag, moisten it with warm water, wrap around the first finger, and try that, taking care not to wet the glass, or the result may be an ugly streak, making it necessary, perhaps, to wash the entire pane again.

Less Moonshine; More Matrimony

No. XI.—The Bridegroom Makes a Fielder's Choice When He Might Have Made an Error. Written for the Post-Dispatch.

By NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH.

NIXOLA GREELEY SMITH

IT was Saturday afternoon and the bridegroom had promised to come home early and take the bride to the baseball game.

The bride wore her new Easter suit, her flower-decked hat and her brightest smile in anticipation of the event. Not that the bride cared especially about baseball. For she did not. In fact, her density to the fine points of the national game had contributed largely to the bridegroom's secret conviction concerning the essential inferiority of the female intellect. But it was a source of unceasing joy to the bride to see the bridegroom act as if he were 8 years old, and this he always did at the ball grounds. They had formed the habit of attending games before they were married, and they kept it up.

The bride had never learned very much about the game. At least not in the bridegroom's opinion, who very often put her through an elementary "fan" catechism just to show her how ignorant she was.

Such easy questions as "What's a sacrifice hit?" or "What's a three-bagger?" she could tell about triumphantly. But there was one inquiry that always brought the examination to an inglorious end. Try as she would, the bride could never remember the answer to "What's a fielder's choice?"

She really thought she had it this time, however, as she powdered her nose for the sixth time and glanced rather anxiously at the clock.

It was 2:10 and the bridegroom had said he would be home between 1:30 and 2.

What could have happened to him, she wondered. The bride was not of the nervous variety of brides. It did not occur to her that her husband had been run over by a trolley car, knocked down by a mail wagon, or otherwise mangled. No thought of calling up the newspaper offices and Police Headquarters came to mitigate the harsh arraignment the bridegroom was undergoing in her now fevered mind.

The arraignment occurred at 2:20. Evidently the bridegroom had joined the ranks of those careless husbands she had read about who had their wives get all ready to go out with them and then never came home.

It was 2:40 when the bridegroom was found guilty. By 2:50 he was sentenced, needless to say, by default. For he had not appeared. Also, the bride declared his ball forfeited in this manner. The bridegroom the week before had won $100 in a pool on some sporting event, and he had given it to the bride with the suggestion that she buy herself a new suit and put what was left of the money in the bank.

Very, well, she would buy the new suit; but there would be no money left. She would spent it all. Every cent. And she would go now. If he came for her later, so much the better. He would realize at last that she was not the kind of wife to be checked at home until called for. But, of course, he would not come. He was up there at the game with some man, doubtless, shrieking, "Oh, you Biddy!" or some similar nonsense, with the other thousands of howling dervishes. For thus, in her anger, the bride characterized the "fans."

By this time she was breathing warlike Bellona herself. The bride had reached the street and with jerky, furious steps was making for Broadway and the shops. Suddenly, as she swung around the corner she almost bumped into the bridegroom. And a very meek and rather apprehensive bridegroom he was.

"Why, Baby!" he said, with an attempt at lightheartedness and careless ease. "Why, Baby, where are you going?"

"I'm going to buy me a new suit," explained the bride, briefly and in tones than only liquid air could rival in coldness.

"But the game!" exclaimed the bridegroom, desperately.

"That was three hours ago," answered the bride, firmly. Then she added, in her most cooing tones: "Come, go with me and help me pick out a suit."

The bridegroom hated shopping more than he did anything else on earth. But was it not Saturday and did not the prospect of a long, sulky Sunday impend if he refused? Moreover, he could have no fun at the game alone.

He saw the punishment and accepted it.

"All right," he said, in martyred tones.

Careless of the smiling Broadway crowd the bride linked her arm in his.

"That," she said vaguely, but triumphantly, "was not an error. It was a fielder's choice—and a very good choice, too."

THE BEAUTY OF WOMAN.

Is It a Tyrant or a Cheat? That Depends on the Soul Back of It.

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By REV. MADISON C. PETERS.

SOCRATES called beauty a "short-lived tyranny," and Theophrastus "a silent cheat."

The man who marries for beauty alone is as silly as the man who would buy a house because it had fine flowers in the front yard.

A beautiful woman pleases the eye, a good woman wins the heart. The one is a jewel, the other a treasure.

The love that has nothing but beauty to sustain it, like the violet, will soon cease to smile, and like the flower must fade.

Beauty in woman is a power and a possession not to be despised, and if women could look into the hearts of men they would discover that much of the dissatisfaction with wives results from indifference to their personal appearance.

Often domestic duties and the cares of motherhood exclude them from society until they become indifferent to its demands, and this loss of interest in outside things is followed by inattention to the person.

Go about negligee in the presence of your husband, and exhibit ennui as if your life had been strained to the snapping point to win him, or on the other hand exhaust all your energies to be fascinating for company outside your home or to strangers who may visit you, reserving nothing for your husband but languid indifference—yours will be the blame for an affinity.

It is a laudable ambition in woman to be attractive—dress as well as you can afford.

If you are young you add to your charms by varying your attire, and when no longer young adopt any kind of sensible and appropriate dress which will charm away that melancholy spectre which throws its shadow on the looking glass—old age.

The most common method employed in increasing and preserving beauty in woman is a liberal use of brush, powder and pencil. But the beauty which is only surface deep is likely to prove as evanescent as the passing cloud.

The enduring beauty of face and person has nothing mysterious about it—not that there may not be some legitimate aids to natural forces, but lasting beauty of face or person must come from within.

The expression of the soul that constitutes superior attractiveness, the highest style of beauty found in the human form, is animated and lighted up by the intelligence within.

Intellectual powers give keenness to the eye and calm majesty to the brow—there is an invisible spirit that dwells within, a manifestation of a higher nature that men love—while the chiseled lines and shapely features of the countenance, the contour of figure and form men admire—the radiance of the latter flashes and is gone—while the former, though lacking certain regularity of outline, delicacy and softness, the superior glow of sympathy and a noble heart light up the homely feature with regal beauty, as the light that plays in fitful coruscations along the northern sky, coming and going, but never still.

Love is the great beautifier of the face.

However shaggy the brows, oblique the eyes, ominously longitudinal the nose and straggling the mouth, you may possess an inward beauty which perishes not, which will lash out in the eye, glow in the face, tune the voice and wreathe the countenance in charms.

To improve your face, improve your disposition, set behind your face a feeling of kindliness toward all.

"The blush will fade,
The light grow dim which the blue eyes wear;
The gloss will vanish from curl and braid,
And the sunbeam die in the waving hair.
Turn from the mirror and try to win
Treasures of loveliness which will last.
Gather earth's glory and bloom within,
That the soul may be young when youth is past."

A FOOD TO WORK ON

Not only is Faust Brand Spaghetti unusually appetizing, adaptable and economical—it is also a food to work on. In fact many people who do the hardest kind of work live almost exclusively on Spaghetti. For the daily worker there is no more sustaining food—for children there is no better growing food—for people who like a change there is no more acceptible food—for the careful housewife there is no more economical food.

Unlike meat and other foods Faust Brand Spaghetti offers variety without end. Hence it never tires its welcome. Any meal—any day—there's a new way of serving it. The free book of recipes sent on request tells how.

The price is only five and ten cents a package—amazingly low considering the goodness, the nourishment, the variety. Sold in sealed packages by grocers generally.

Whispering Smith

By Frank H. Spearman.

Copyright, 1909, by Charles Scribner's Sons.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Supt. McCloud discharges Wrecking Foreman Murray Sinclair for looting a wreck. All the men quit with Sinclair and go with him to his ranch. Many disasters befall the division, which are ascribed to outlaws. President Bucks sends Whispering Smith into the country with a free hand to clean out the outlaws. McCloud boards with Marion Sinclair (Murray's neglected wife), who is a milliner at Medicine Bend. Whispering Smith is in love with Marion. McCloud in love with Dicksie Dunning, who, with her cousin, owns a ranch in the Crawling Spring Valley. The Dunnings believe Sinclair has been harshly treated by McCloud, and ascribe the troubles on the division to McCloud's incompetence. McCloud undertakes to build a line of railroad into the Crawling Spring Valley. He quarrels with Lance Dunning over the crossing of the Dunning ranch. An assassin tries to kill McCloud; Whispering Smith identifies him as Du Sang, an associate of Sinclair, and runs him out of town. During a flood in the Crawhing Stone, which threatens the Dinning ranch, McClaud renders services which win him the Dunning's friendship.

Playing With Death.

"I AM going to leave this country, Marion," Sinclair was saying. "There's nothing here for me. I can see that. What's the use of my eating my heart out over the way I've been treated? I've given the best years of my life to this railroad, and now they turn me down with a kick and a curse. It's the old story of the Indian and his dog, only I don't propose to let them make soup of me. I'm going to the coast, Marion. I'm going to California, where I wanted to go when we were married, and I wish to God we had gone there then. All our troubles might never have been if I had got in with a different crowd from these cow boozers on the start. And, Marion, I want to know whether you'll give me another chance and go with me?"

Sinclair, on the bench and leaning against the tree, sat with folded arms looking at his wife. Marion, in a hickory chair, faced him.

"No one would like to see you be all you ought to be more than I, Murray, but you are the only one in the world that can ever give yourself another chance to be that."

"The fellows in the saddle here now have denied me every chance to make a man of myself again on the railroad—you know that, Marion. In fact, they never did give me the show I was entitled to. I ought to have had Hailey's place. Bucks never treated me right in that; he never pushed me in the way he pushed other men that were just as bad as I ever was. It discouraged me; that's the reason I went to pieces."

"It could be no reason for treating me as you treated me; for bringing drunken men and drunken women into our house, and driving me out of it unless I would be what you were and what they were."

"I know I haven't treated you right; I've treated you shamefully. I will do anything on earth you say to square it. I will! Recollect, I had lived among men and in the same country with women like that for years before I knew you. I didn't know how to treat you; I admit it. Give me another chance, Marion."

"I gave you all that I had when I married you, Murray. I haven't anything more to give to any man. You would be disappointed in me if I could ever live with you again, and I could not do that without living a lie every day."

"No! I Will Not Go with You!"

He bent forward, looking at the ground. He talked of their first meeting in Wisconsin; of the happiness of their little courtship; he brought up California again, and the northwest coast, where, he told her, a great railroad was to be built and he should find the chance he needed to make a record for himself—it had been promised him—a chance to be the man his abilities entitled him to be in railroading. "And I've got a customer for the ranch and the cows, Marion. I don't care for this business—damn the cows! Let somebody else chase after 'em through the sleet. I've done well; I've made money—a lot of money—the last two years in my cattle deals, and I've got it put away, Marion; you need never lift your hand to work in our house again. We can live in California, and live well, under our own orange trees, whether I work or not. All I want to know is, will you go with me?"

"No!. I will not go with you, Murray."

He moved in his seat and threw his head up appealingly. "Why not?"

"I will never be dishonest with you, I never have been and I never will be. I have nothing in my heart to give you, and I will not live upon your money. I am earning my own living. I am as content as I ever can be, and I shall stay where I am and do what I am doing until I die, probably. And this is why I came when you asked me to; to tell you the exact truth. I am not a girl any longer—I never can be again. I am a woman. What I was before I married you I never can be again, and you have no right to ask me to be a hypocrite and say I can love you—for that is what it all comes to—when I have no such thing in my heart or life for you. It is dead and gone, and I cannot help it."

"That sounds pretty hard, Marion."

"It is only the truth. It sounded fearfully hard to me when you told me that woman was your friend—that you knew her before you knew me and would know her after I was dead; that she was as good as I, and that if I didn't entertain her you would. But it was the truth! you told me the truth, and it was better that you told it—as it is better now that I tell it to you."

"I was drunk. I didn't tell you the truth. A man is a pretty tough animal sometimes, but you are a woman and a pure one, and I care more for you than for all the other women in the world, and it is not your nature to be unforgiving."

"It is to be honest."

He looked suddenly up at her and spoke sharply: "Marion, I know why you won't go."

"I have honestly told you."

"No; you have not honestly told me. The real reason is Gordon Smith."

"If he were I should not hesitate to tell you, Murray; but he is not," she said, coldly.

Sinclair spoke harshly: "Do you think you can fool me? Don't you suppose I know he spends his time loafing around your shop?"

Marion flushed indignantly. "It is not true!"

"Don't you suppose I know he writes letters back to Wisconsin to your folks?"

"What have I to do with that? Why shouldn't he write to my mother? Who has a better right?"

"Don't drive me too far. By God! if I go away alone I'll never leave you here to run off with Whispering Smith—remember that!" She sat in silence. His rage left her perfectly quiet, and her unmoved expression shamed and in part silenced him. "Don't drive me too far," he muttered, sullenly. "If you do you will be responsible, Marion."

She did not move her eyes from the blue hills on the horizon. "I expect you to kill me some time; I feel sure you will. And that you may do." Then she bent her look on him. "You may do it now if you want to."

His face turned heavy with rage. "Marion," he cried, with an oath, "do you know how close you are to death at this moment?"

"You may do it now."

He clinched the bench rail and rose slowly to his feet. Marion sat motionless in the hickory chair; the sun was shining in her face and her hands were folded in her lap. Dicksie rocked on the porch. In the shadow of the house the man was mending the saddle.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Tower W.

AT the end of a long and neglected hall on the second floor of the old bank block in Hill street, Whispering Smith had a room in which he made headquarters at Medicine Bend, it was in effect Whispering Smith's home.

The door of the room in the course of many years had been mutilated with keyholes and reinforced with locks until it appeared difficult to choose an opening that would really afford entrance; but two men besides Whispering Smith carried keys to the room—Kennedy and George McCloud. They had right of way into it at all hours, and knew how to get in.

McCloud had left the bridge camp on the river for Medicine Bend on the Saturday that Marion Sinclair—whose husband had finally told her he would give her one more chance to think it over—returned with Dicksie safely from their trip to the Frenchman ranch.

Whispering Smith, who had been with Bucks and Morris Blood, got back to town the same day. The president and general manager were at the Wickiup during the afternoon, and left for the East at 9 o'clock in the evening, when their car was attached to an eastbound passenger train. McCloud took supper afterward with Whispering Smith at a Front street chophouse, and the two men separated at 11 o'clock. It was three hours later when McCloud tapped on the door of Smith's room, and in a moment opened it. "Awake, Gordon?"

"Sure; come in. What is it?"

"The second section of the passenger train—No. 3, with express cars—was stopped at Tower W tonight. Oliver Sollers was pulling; he is badly shot up, and one of the messengers was shot all to pieces. They cracked the through safe, emptied it, and made a clean get-away."

"Tower W—276 miles. Have you ordered up an engine?"

"Yes."

"Where's Kennedy?"

A second voice answered: "Right here."

"Strike a light, Farrell. What about the horses?"

"They're being loaded."

"Is the line clear?"

"Rooney Lee is clearing it."

"Spike it, George, and leave every westbound train in siding, with the engine cut loose and plenty of steam, till we get by. It's now or never this time. Two hundred and seventy-six miles; they're giving us our money's worth. Who's going with us, Farrell?"

"Bob Scott, Reed Young and Brill, if Reed can get him at Sleepy Cat. Dancing is loading the horses."

"I want Ed Banks to lead a posse straight from here for Williams Cache; Dancing can go with him. And telephone Gene and Bob Johnson to sit down in Canadian Pass till they grow to the rocks, but not to let anybody through if they want to live after I see them. They've got all the instructions; all they need is the word. It's a long chance, but I think these are our friends. You can head Banks off by telephone somewhere if we change our minds when we get a trail. Start Brill Young and a good man from Sleepy Cat ahead of us, George, if you can, in a baggage car with any horses that they can get there. They can be at Tower W by daybreak and perhaps pick up a trail before we reach there, and we shall have fresh horses for them. I'm ready, I guess; let's go. Slam the door, George!" In the hall Whispering Smith threw a pocket light on his watch. "I want you to put us there by 7 o'clock."

"Charlie Sollers is going to pull you," answered McCloud. "Have you got everything? Then we're off." The three men tiptoed down the dark hall, down the stairs, and across the street on a noiseless run for the railroad yard.

The air was chill and the sky clear, with a moon more than half to the full. "Lord, what a night to ride!" exclaimed Whispering Smith, looking mournfully at the stars. "Well planned, well planned. I must admit."

The men hastened toward the yard, where lanterns were moving about the car of the train guards near the Blue Front stables. The loading board had been lowered, and the horses were being carefully led into the car. From a switch engine behind the car a shrill cloud of steam billowed into the air. Across the yard a great passenger engine, its huge white side-rod rising and falling slowly in the still light of the moon—one of the mountain racers, thick-necked like an athlete and deep-chested—was backing down for the run with the single car almost across the west end of the division. Trainmen were running to and from the Wickiup platform. By the time the horses were loaded the conductor had orders. Until the last minute, Whispering Smith was in consultation with McCloud, and giving Dancing precise instructions for the posse into the Cache country. They were still talking at the side door of the car, McCloud and Dancing on the ground and Whispering Smith squatting on his haunches inside the moving car, when the engine signaled and the special drew away from the chute, pounded up the long run of ladder switch, and moved with gathering speed into the canyon. In the cab Charlie Sollers, crushing in his hand the tissue that had brought the news of his brother's death, sat at the throttle. He had no speed orders. They had told him he had a clear track.

THE CHEERFUL PESSIMIST

Optimisms of a Cynic Set Down for the Post-Dispatch

By HELEN ROWLAND.

HELEN ROWLAND

OPTIMISM—That triumph of hope over experience, which makes a divorcee marry a second time, or ANYBODY marry for love. The cheerful belief that courtship is a sample of matrimony.

OPTIMIST (Masculine)—A man who goes right on proposing to a girl, after he has detected a sign that she is going to accept him.

OPTIMISTE (Feminine)—A woman who marries for companionship. A girl who believes that she is a man's first love—or his last.

OPTIMISTIC—Having ability to pretend to be cheerful after marriage. Being able to marry a man without the hope that you are going to keep him straight in the future, when his "past" has been a perfect zigzag. Being able to regard twins as blessings.

OPTIMISTICISM (otherwise Opti-mysticism)—The quality of hope that makes a man think that his wife will believe a "morning-after" story that sounds too good to be true. The undaunted self-confidence with which a man tries to steer through the shallows of love-making without floundering on the rocks of matrimony or being caught in the whirlpool of a breach-of-promise suit. The belief that you can crawl out of love as easily as you can fall into it.

OPTICIAN—Matrimony; the thing that cures love's blindness, opens a man's eyes and makes him see all a woman's defects through a microscope.

OPTICAL DELUSION—Love. That which makes a 120-pound man call a 200-pound woman "Little One." The irresistible object which the average man sees in the looking glass. Everything about an affinity.

OPTIC NERVE—The NERVE of a man who deliberately stands in front of the FLATIRON Building on a windy day.

Growing Parsley in the House.

A PLAN that combined use and ornament is that of growing parsley in the house. Get a box long enough to fit your window sill, and paint and enamel it white, or, if you desire, it may be stained the color of the woodwork. Fasten it to the sill, and fill with good soil. If you have parsley growing in the garden, it is a simple matter to dig up a few roots. They are not difficult to get, however, from market men or truckers. As small roots as possible should be used. Give it plenty of water and sun for at least a part of each day, and it will soon come up and look as pretty as a fern. Leaves may be cut off freely for cooking and garnishing.

BROWNS MUST LEARN TO HIT SPITBALL PITCHERS' SHOOTS OR PASS UP THE AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT ROGER BRESNAHAN IS THE WHOLE TEAM OF CARDINALS, BUT HAS HARD TASK TO DEVELOP A WINNING TEAM SPORT

CARDINALS THE ONLY ORIGINAL ONE-MAN TEAM

Bresnahan Is Player, Manager, Coach and Stage-Fright Preventer for Robison's Horde.

BY JOHN E. WRAY,

A LEAGUE PARK LAY.

OUR Cardinals are young and small;
They foozle drives, and dub the ball.
Chance says they'll never do at all—
And he's no codger.
Of Hedges' prides, though in the sere
And yellow leaf, we have small fear.
Yes, sure we love our McAleer—
BUT, OH, YOU ROGER!

PERHAPS we'd best, when ends the race,
Be satisfied our fate to face
If Bresnahan has ducked last place—
The artful dodger.
Then Fans may jam that big steel stand
And cheer our Browns to beat the band;
Sure, McAleer deserves a hand—
BUT, OH, YOU ROGER!

—From the grand opera entitled, "He Drew Bum Cards, but He Played Them Well."

YOU have heard of one-man teams. Of Wagner, the backbone of the Pirates; of Cobb, battering the Detroits out of the depths with his marvelous ash; of Ed Walsh, and how he held up the declining Sox by almost superhuman individual efforts. But the only really and truly one-man club in the country is right here in St. Louis.

This club is Roger Bresnahan. This is one large, diamond jewel. He has the Koh-i-noor dimmed to a tallow-dip and even the great Cullinane can't get up more than a 16-candle-power glisten when Roger's around. Owing to a setting composed mainly of Rhinestones this gem has as yet not been able to make much of an impression on the baseball world. But they'll notice him before he gets through. He'll lend a little luster to his surroundings and never know he has granted a handicap.

Yesterday King Roger, aided by eight pawns, essayed to face the world's champion Cubs for the eighth time this season. Roger had won three games and lost four, and a victory yesterday would have tied up the games of the year between the two clubs, four each. Roger really deserved to win the game, but his pawns didn't make the right moves to back him up; so, bless us, the Cubs won the battle, 5 to 4.

Pitcher Rhodes did well enough to have won his contest easily. But also, he did enough later to lose it. Aided by the strenuous efforts of the rest of the club to get excited and by their ability to remain so, Rhodes tossed the affray, although heroic efforts all but pulled it out of the fire after the world's champions were five runs in the lead.

It was Roger who did all that was done toward scaring the Cubs. Roger rode the safety valve hard. Rhodes started to chuck it up in the very first inning and thereafter nearly every man on the club took a turn at messing the legitimate. Four errors are officially recorded; but Heavings! The dumb plays brought off would have made a braying ass a mute for life. Bobby Byrne, who has been in major league ball long enough to have intuition, if not sense, with the ball in his mitt and a double in sight, had he merely touched third base on a force-out, raced Sheckard back toward the middle station and tagged him.

Imagine what Bresnahan must have said to himself! We can't print what he said to Byrne.

And Ellis mussed a single like an amateur, until it went for extra bases. And Charles dropped a beautiful throw to second, spoiling a putout. That ball was incandescent. At least, everybody thought it "too hot to handle."

Roger hung on to the safety valve all the way, and though he saw his men were rank with stage fright, he never let them get absolutely away from him. Although five runs behind the world's champions, the incomparable team of all baseballdom, Roger was man enough to keep his team going and actually threatened to win the game.

Wasn't it Cyrano de Bergerac who said it was more glorious to fight when there was no hope of winning? Well, Roger's the lad who exemplifies the theory.

How One Zimmer Reaches Into the Azure and Pulls Out a Sensation

IT'S that spirit that makes hope where none seems, and is the kind that, in the end gets something. If Bresnahan doesn't wind up in a padded cell, he'll have that team out of last place and doing well by the end of the season.

It's more than a yeoman's job, though. Bresnahan is shouldering the cares of a manager, of a coacher and of a player. And in addition he has to keep his minor league youths from minor league habits of excitement and flurry. It is a big contract. And even Roger can be excused if he is caught short when the time comes to deliver.

In spite of all their shortcomings, yesterday, it was nothing but a marvelous one-hand stop by Zimmerman that saved the day for the Cubs.

The Cubs had amassed five runs in five innings. A clean double, a base on balls, a marvelous heave by Osteen into the grandstand and then a single netted three runs in the first. Rhodes' wild throw, a single, a sacrifice and an infield out netted another in the fourth and in the fifth two bases on balls and a single netted the fifth run. Rhodes improved thereafter and steadied marvelously.

The Cardinals, too, were beginning to discover Pfeister and in the fifth round they found his measure to the extent of driving him from the box at the close of the round. Five clean hits and some clever base running netted four runs. It seemed as though Pfeister would never get the side out. But Steinfeldt, who was under fire at two critical times during the game, saved the day by handling a tremendous rap off Delehanty's bat, stopping the rally.

Overall went in later and the Cardinals took kindly to his curves in the eighth. Koney and Ellis both rapped safely and with none out it looked as though the score would surely be tied. But those Cubs straightened up under fire. Delehanty popped up, trying to sacrifice. Charles lined out a terrific drive that seemed out of Zimmerman's reach. He darted over toward first, leaped in the air and with one hand speared the ball, relaying it immediately to Chance to catch Ellis off first. Ellis scrambled back valiantly in time to beat the throw a fraction. Koney was dashing, head down, around the sacks and the watchful Frank Chance raced down to second for a double play, ending the Cardinals' last hope.

The Cardinals' courage, not their playing, deserves commendation. If they have that, they'll learn the rest later.

ENRIGHT QUITS ROGER, MINUS HIS BACK SALARY

Charles Enright, the promising young Cardinal recruit, quit the Cardinal club yesterday and left for his home in California, where, it is said, he has a sweetheart whose attractions lured him from the diamond. Enright was recently superseded at shortstop by Osteen and it is thought that this may have soured his mind, although Bresnahan had assured him that his position was safe. Enright's action may bar him from organized baseball. It is reported that his parents are well-to-do. No action will be taken against him until the facts become public. Enright left nearly a month's back pay behind him. He was a mere youth but of such great promise that Bresnahan decided to carry him whether he made good this season or not.

SALLEE AND WILLIS ARE LIKELY PITCHERS TODAY

Sallee, for the Cardinals and Willis for the Pittsburg Pirates are the probable batteries for the game at League Park this afternoon. The Pittsburg team arrived this morning from Cincinnati. Maddox will, in all probability, pitch for Pittsburg Tuesday, and Camnitz Wednesday. The games will be started at 3:30 o'clock.

Bill Abstein, a local man, is playing first base for the Pirates and has been fielding in good form and hitting in great style. Johnny Miller, from the Pittsburg outlaw league, is another new man who has made good with the team. Miller is playing second base, having boosted Abbaticchio out of the position.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

NEW FIRST BASEMAN IS COMING BACK WITH BROWNS

CHICAGO, Ill., April 26.—The Browns are to have another infielder when they get back home next Sunday, First Baseman Paterson, with the Pueblo Club of the Western League last season is to become a full-fledged Brownie as soon as the team returns home. Paterson was procured by McAleer last fall and it was supposed he would be taken on the spring training trip for trial, but for some reason he was left out and McAleer announced he had been allowed to go back to Pueblo.

Paterson was in Chicago yesterday and, after conferring with Manager McAleer, it was agreed that he would join the Browns in St. Louis, next week.

He is a big, rangy fellow and a hard hitter. He played first base for Pueblo last year, but it is said he can work equally well at second. McAleer will give him a thorough try-out during the long home series that will follow the present trip, but, of course, there is little chance that he will beat Jones or Williams out of their jobs.

Paterson batted second in the Western League last year, .322 for 115 games.

M'AULIFFE ARRESTED FOR AUTOMOBILE JOY RIDE

NEW YORK, April 26.—Jack McAuliffe, one time champion lightweight, made a personally conducted tour of Coney Island yesterday with the aid of a taxicab which ate up $32.50 worth of space. He couldn't pay and though he began brilliantly he ended gloomily in a police cell.

SCHAEFER DAY IN CUE WORLD

Many Exhibitions Being Held for Benefit of Invalid Billiard Wizard.

Exhibition billiard matches, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the fund for Jake Schaefer, will be held at Charley Peterson's new hall on Eighth street, the Rex billiard hall and Pesch's hall on Seventh street, which will hereafter be known as Frank Day's billiard hall. The exhibitions are only part of a number being held all over the country today.

At Peterson's the entire receipts from all of the tables, 17 in number, will be given to the fund. He has arranged the following program: 8 to 9 p. m., George Sheble vs. Ed Wills, 50 points, 18.2 balk line; Harry Culver vs. Guy Andrews, 100 points, straight rail. 9 to 10 p. m., Alfredo de Oro vs. Maurice Balzheiser, 50 points, pool; De Mun Smith vs. Charles Peterson, 100 points, 18.1 balk line. 10 to 11 p. m., De Oro vs. Frank Peterson, 15 points, three-cushion billiards; Francois Maggioli vs. Smith, 25 points, red-ball billiards. 11 to 12 p. m., Alex Selkirk vs. Bob Staley, 10 points, bank billiards; Harry Hook vs. Dr. Campbell, 15 points, three cushions. Exhibition of fancy shots by Charley Peterson.

At Pesch's hall, purchased Saturday by Frank Day, a match game of pool between Alfredo de Oro and Ralph Fox of Washington, D. C., has been scheduled. Day and John Horgan will also meet in a three-cushion billiard match. Frank Benson, John Horgan, Martin Maley and William Garen will also take part in a number of match games at the Rex for the benefit of the fund.

Schaefer is a former world's balk-line champion, who has been seriously ill for some months at Denver with lung trouble and it is thought that he will never be able to play again. Benefits have been arranged for him in halls all over the country for this evening.

Russian Settlers Buy Automobiles.

OTIS, Kan., April 26.—The West has no greater example of rapid progress toward wealth than in the case of the Russian Mennonites who have a settlement in this neighborhood. The other day 10 touring cars were drawn up about the postoffice and every one was owned and driven by a Russian. In the last two months one merchant in Otis has sold 50 motor cars to farmers. Thirty years ago the first of these Russian settlers came, penniless, to Kansas.

Suggests Penalization of Tires.

With the approach of the Glidden Tour, the question of penalties is being freely discussed. In commenting upon this, Mr. H. S. Firestone believes that the Contest Committee should penalize fore tire troubles.

It is a well-known fact that a large percentage of the stoppages on a tour of this kind are attributed directly to tire trouble. It seems strange, therefore, in view of the great importance of tire equipment, that the Contest Committee should not consider tire service in connection with atuomobile efficiency as a whole.

Penalties for tire weaknesses would inevitably tend to raise the prevailing standard of tire service. Mr. Firestone believes that if the Contest Committee were to penalize for tire trouble it would help to establish the relative service life of various tires and thus add a new value to the Glidden Tour.

New York Automobile Carnival.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The annual New York automobile carnival opened in earnest today with a hill climb at Fort George in which 10 events were scheduled. While most of the competitions are for gasoline vehicles, electrics, steamers and all types have been provided for, the other principal road event of the week has been set for Tuesday afternoon at Hill Side avenue, Jamaica—the straightaway time trials. Nine events have been put at two miles and 10 at one mile, the gasolne cars being graded both by price and cylinder capacity. Free-for-all and stock chassis events will be features at each distance.

Wednesday will be souvenir day. Thursday is to bring a touch of mimic warfare in the military evolutions by automobiles. A lot of cars will be drafted to show how rapidly militiamen can be gathered and transported by automobiles in case of riot, war or disaster. As an auto feature it will prove a distinct novelty.

On Friday a "one-gallon test" as it is called, will be held over one of the New York suburban roads. Some of the minor conditions will be kept a secret until just before the contest starts.

The Saturday parade, for which $2000 is offered in prizes, will be the most popular event of the six days and is calculated to end the week with a snap. Grotesque cars will be conspicuous, and a special attempt is to be made in the commercial division of the parade. In the historic section early auto models will be an interesting feature. A smoker and a dinner will be among the evening diversions.

CATCHER POWERS DIES; ATHLETICS' STAFF WEAK

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—Catcher Powers of the Philadelphia club, who has been at the point of death for some time and whose case took a turn for the worse, yesterday, died this morning. He contracted intestinal trouble and failed to recover from an operation.

Powers, with Schreckengost, had been for years the mainstay of the Athletics' catchng department. He was with the club when it won the championship of the American League, and was a thoroughly reliable receiver. The death of Powers will seriously handicap the Athletics.

WASSEM MAKES FINE SHOWING

CHICAGO, April 27.—The lightweight wrestling championsnip tournament matches will be resumed at the Illinois A. C. this evening and because of the excellent contests at the opening of the tournament Saturday night a big crowd is expected.

The men agreed to wrestle two 15-minute bouts, the man making the best showing to receive the decision. Al. Wassem, the young St. Louis grappler, and Young Jordan, a pupil of Mike Dwyer, wrestling instructor of the new Illinois A. C., met Saturday night. The match was the roughest and most exciting of the evening. The boys did not mean to be rough, but each was tossed between the ropes on diferent occasions. The referee called the bout a draw, which pleased the crowd.

Max Luttbeg, the present lightweight champion, could do no better than get a draw with Ernest Lindberg of Chicago. Harry Jones gained the only fall of the evening when he pinned Ed Fox's shoulders to the mat in 12 minutes. The deciding bout between these men will be put on this evening.

Gus Swanson of New York and Young Gotch of Iowa pulled and hauled each other about for an hour without any result in a bout for the featherweight championship. The contest was an uninteresting one.

C. B. C. Plays Arkansas U.

The C. B. C. baseball team will play the Arkansas University nine on the college campus this afternoon. Bennett, who has won four consecutive games for the college team, will oppose the visitors. The same teams will also play Tuesday afternoon.

Browns Must Find Way to Hit Spitball Pitchers or Abandon Hope of Pennant

Veterans of McAleer's Brigade Are at Mercy of Moist Curve Flingers.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

CHICAGO, April 26.

IF the Browns are beaten out of the pennant this season, probably the principal cause will be the "spit ball." It has beaten them out of a couple of games already, and the schedule is only started. Two games that have been dropped by McAleer he deserved to win. But his good hitters, who have been batting harder than any team in the American League, are already tamed when a pitcher begins wetting the ball and curling it around their knees.

The Brown's should have beaten the White Sox in yesterday's battle with ease. There should never have been a doubt of it, for Young Bill Graham was pitching as beautiful a game as any man could want to see in midsummer, much less on a wintry day in April. He blanked the White Sox for eight rounds, allowing but four scattered singles. He was splendid when men were on the bags. He was toiling along nicely until his team mates would give him a run or two that would win the game.

But round after round, the mates fell helplessly before a raw recruit who was stuck into the pitcher's box by Boss Billy Sullivan. His name is Scott and he knows nothing of the art of pitching except to shoot the "spit ball" when his boss calls for it. He's a tall, husky youth with a strong arm, and as long as he breaks the ball over the corners of the plate as he did yesterday, he will continue to win games. Doubtless he has a future before him, because he has mastered the "spit ball."

Browns Fanned Feebly.

The veteran hitters of the Browns could scrape together but three tiny singles off his slippery delivery throughout the game, and when a hit was needed to score a run, and there were three beautiful chances, the Brownies were not there at all. Thy were lucky to hit even a foul.

But Bill Graham proved a game boy and stuck it out inning after inning, blanking the eager Sox, and he pulled himself out of several tight places by great pitching. Thus the battle went until the ninth inning and Bill was distressed that no runs had yet been given him. It was the last half of the ninth and once more he went in to shut out the Sox and hope the Browns would give him a run in the tenth. But the first Sox batter in the ninth inning slammed the first ball pitched to center field for a single.

Bill was a bit frustrated by this and before he knew it, the runner was off for second. Stephens' throw was bad and the runner was safe. Then Manager Sullivan who was the next batter, bunted the ball toward third base. Graham fielded it nicely and whirled to shoot to third, a play that would hardly have been possible, still he was ready to take a chance. Ferris had come in to field the bunt, so there was no one on third base and Bill whirled and shot wildly to first, in a desperate effort to get at least one man. Williams was covering first base and the ball didn't go within six feet of him. Hartzell dug it out from under the benches along the right field foul line after Parent had crossed the plate and Sullivan had run to second. That was all that was needed and the crowd left delighted.

No Chance Against Spitter.

There doesn't seem to be any means of breaking up a game when the pitcher is using the "spit ball" successfully. It's not a hard ball to control, so it is useless for the batter to try to draw a base on balls. He'll be called out on strikes nearly every time. It's useless to attempt to break it up by bunting, because it's a fast ball with a quick break on it and a batter is lucky to bunt at all. He generally tries twice, fouling them both off or missing entirely, then has two strikes on him and in a bad hole, when he has to try to hit the next one.

There never was any kind of pitching so tantalizing as the "spit ball." Billy Sullivan, the Sox manager, has often said that it's a wonder how a batter can ever get a base hit when the "spit ball" is breaking nicely. It is usually startsd straight for the middle or the inside corner of the plate, the height of the batter's hip. It is as speedy as the fast ball, and it breaks down and over the outside corner of the plate, the height of a man's knee. It's just right to be called a strike if the batter lets it slip past, and it's just jumping enough to make him miss or tap it feebly to the infield, if he swings.

Jimmy McAleer is not the only manager in the American League who is worrying about it, but he is thinking desperately of some means of beating it. So far he has been absolutely without success. He must face a lot of those spit-ball pitchers as the season progresses and unless some light comes to him soon, he is doomed to a lot of defeats through its effectiveness. Of course the "spit-ball" pitcher is less effective some days than others, and occasionally a batter will catch him trying to slip through a straight ball, so the flinger of the moist ball will not always be successful. However, he'll win more games against the Browns than he will lose.

Browns Hit Average Pitching.

Give the Browns a great left-hander or a wonderful and speedy right-hander of the old school against them, and they'll seldom fail to hit. If they lose the game under those conditions, it will be for some other cause than lack of hitting. Right down the line as the Browns bat, they can hammer the average pitcher. But just put in a good spit-ball pitcher, such as Frank Smith or Ed Walsh, or Sitton of Cleveland, or the young Scott of yesterday's battle, and the heavy hitters will fade away. The left-handed swatters, Stone, Hartzell or Hoffman, might occasionally scrape a single off a spit-ball pitcher, but Jones, Ferris, Wallace and Williams are helpless when it breaks low over the right-hand corner.

Gleaned From Two Leagues

Yesterday's defeat by the Cubs put the Cardinals at the bottom.

Stanley Robison is taking the right step. He refuses to sell bleacher seats after the stands are full. He will endeavor to avoid having any ground rules by limiting sales to the capacity of the stands.

O'Day made some questionable decisions yesterday, and one fan resented it. He made the audible comment that "O'Day must be making a handbook on the game." Evidence enough that the gambling feature of baseball is getting a foothold outside the parks.

If Browne of the Cubs doesn't increase his batting average he'll take a very far back seat. Browne made but two hits during the entire Cubs series here.

The Cardinals are improving in their hitting, though as a team they are still far below efficiency, .204 not being enough to win last place even.

And still the Cubs' pitchers fail to go nine innings. Rather rough on Chance.

Schulte is still too ill to get back in the game for the Cubs, or Browne would have been wrenched out of his berth long ago.

Just to show that the Cubs were not "phony" in the matter of real baseball, they made but three errors, while the Cardinals were making 13 in the series just closed. The Cubs and Cardinals made exactly the same number of hits, 33.

Sheckard's leg is in far from the best condition.

Byrne's batting will nave to improve. He struck out twice yesterday and batted .000 for the day. For the series he hit .067 and on the season to date he has batted but .114. Othewise, Byrne is all right.

Except yesterday. Byrne must have been in a trance. Roger had to wake him at third and a throw caught Bobby with his mouth wide open. At that he almost made a put out. Later he made that dumb oversight which cost a double play.

There isn't a regular daily player on the Cardinals who has hit .300 on the season. Phelps and Lush are leading, but Ellis is next with .286; Charles, .282, and Koney, .256, are next. Rather rotten work.

The Cardinals are fielding poorly. So far .935 is their average. Compared with the Browns, the team is working slowly. The Browns have hit .269 so far and fielded .962, a distinct advantage. On the Cubs series the Cardinals did better hitting, their team average being .256. The Cubs averaged but .243. But the Cardinal fielding during this period was only .924 and that is not even minor league work.

John McCloskey is surely making good for Milwaukee. McGlynn and Hostetter have done yeoman work for "Jawn," whose team is now in the lead with 7 games won and 2 lost.

GOVERNOR STOPS BOXING CONTESTS IN INDIANA

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 26.—Gov. Marshall has written to prosecuting attorneys in counties where boxing exhibitions have been given and ordered that they must be stopped. Indianapolis had two fights and nothing was done, so Terre Haute and other cities organized clubs. The Terre Haute club is advertising a bout for May 7.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

The absolute vegetable purity of S. S. S. has always been one of the strongest points in its favor, and is one of the principal reasons why it is the most widely known and universally used of all blood medicines. A great many of the so-called blood purifiers are really nothing more than strong mineral mixtures which act so unpleasantly and disastrously on the delicate membranes and tissues of the stomach and bowels, that even if such treatment purified the blood, the condition in which the digestive system is left would often be more damaging to the health than the original trouble. Not so with S. S. S.—it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and at the same time is an absolutely safe and harmless remedy. It is made entirely of the healing and cleansing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks, each of which is in daily use in some form by physicians in their practice. Years of work and research have proven S. S. S. to contain everything necessary to purify the blood and at the same time supply the system with the purest and best tonic effects. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all other blood troubles, and it leaves the system in perfect condition when it has purified the blood. Book containing much valuable information on the blood and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

Comparative Times Mix Form of Star Runners

Comparison of Races Between St. Yves and Shrubb, and Dorando and Maloney, Invite Ridiculous Inferences.

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

NEW YORK, April 26.—It is interesting to compare the latest performances of Shrubb and St. Yves—Dorando and Maloney. Shrubb won from St. Yves Saturday night, doing the 15 miles in 1h. 26m. 12s.

On Saturday, at New Haven, Dorando defeated Maloney, and was credited with 15 miles in 1h. 14m. 40s. Maloney, by the way, was timed in 1h. 16m.

Can anyone imagine Dorando, light-footed as he is, running a 15-mile race over 11 minutes faster than Shrubb—not to mention the records for the distance? And can anyone imagine Maloney, with his heavy, clumsy plugging, doing the distance 10 minutes faster than the champion, Shrubb, again not to mention the records?

Records are good things to watch. The A. A. U. has the right idea. It is harder to get a new amateur record through the committees than to throw a brick through a pinhole. Every possibility of unfair or uncertain timing, or of short tracks, of light weights, etc., is covered by official inspections and affidavits by the score, but these professional matches are off-hand affairs.

Wonder just how many miles there were in the "15-mile" race run by Dorando and Maloney?

Mellody For France.

Honey Mellody has gone to France, accompanied by his wife. Honey has received an offer of a match with Willie Lewis, who is now in Paris. Having knocked Willie cold twice, the ex-welterweight champion thinks he can trim Lewis any old time. He is likely to run up against a surprise in Paris. Lewis has been fighting all winter at frequent intervals. He has been meeting middle and heavy weights. Mellody, on the contrary, has been out of the ring for some time, and just before going into temporary retirement was knocked out a couple of times himself. He may "have the sign on Lewis," as he thinks; he may not. I note from one of Willie's letters that he is just as anxious to fight Mellody now as Mellody could possibly be to fight him.

Lots of people would like to see Mellody come back and do some more good work in the ring. Until he suddenly struck the slide a year or two ago he was a splendid fighter. He is a clean-living boy and a fair man in the ring. Perhaps the long rest will put him in the best of shape again. He did too much making weight and fought too often. That was his only trouble.

Here's a Freak Mark.

That was a great feat—the Hillman-Robertson three-legged race Saturday. Running a hundred yards in 11 seconds flat with your leg tightly strapped to another fellow's leg is something of an acrobatic performance. To work in world's record speed at the same time is going some. Harry Hillman and Lawson Robertson have cracked and recracked these world's three-legged race records a dozen times or more. They entirely outclass the old "three-legged" runners.

Imagine tripping or getting out of step while flying along at the rate of 100 yards in 11 seconds. There would be something for the doctor to attend to. If you're not accustomed to the actual speed of a sprinter the best way I can describe it is by saying that the average man running at top speed to catch a car probably travels at the rate of 100 yards in fourteen or fifteen seconds. When you get down to 11 seconds or better you're flying. Below 10 seconds as sprinter's legs fly so fast that he is likely to lose, or "break" in his stride at once. This has been the fault of many men who could go fifty or sixty yards at a record breaking clip.

Bresnahan May Sign Hofman.

"Toots" Hoffman is wanted by both the Sphingfield Club of the Three Eye League and the Cardinals. President Kinsella of the Springfield Club wanted Hoffman for the same salary he was receiving from Chicago. Manager Bresnahan has decided that he would also like to give Hoffman a chance. Hoffman will decide where he will play today.

Milt Kinney Wins on Foul.

Milt Kinney won on a foul from "Kid" Frisco in the seventh round of a fight on Silver Island, a short distance above Alton, Ill., yesterday afternoon. Frisco struck Kinney when the latter was down, for which he was disqualified. About 500 persons witnessed the bout.

READING SLUMPS HEAVILY ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE

Closes With Net Decline of 2¼ Points; Market Active and Lower.

NEW YORK, April 26, 12:30 p. m.—Rock Island preferred was the only one of the prominent issues to score a gain during the forenoon, but its advance amounted to only ¼ point. All the others were either at parity or lower.

Anaconda lost ⅛, Consolidated Gas ⅜, Colorado Fuel & Iron ¼, Amalgamated Copper ½ and People's Gas ¾. Smelting, Lead and the U. S. Steel stocks were unchanged.

In the rails division Great Northern, Pennsylvania and Union Pacific declined ¼ each, B. & O., D. & R. G. and Missouri Pacific ⅜ each, B. R. T., Northern Pacific, M., K. & T. and Wabash preferred ½ each, St. Paul, C. & O. and New York Central ⅝ each.

Reading and Southern Pacific dropped 1 each, and Wisconsin Central common 2 points.

There were no special reasons assigned for the market weakness.

No decision will be handed down today in the commodities clause case.

Trading was lighter than usual, the total sales to noon amounting to only 369,000 shares.

With only one or two unimportant exceptions the prices of stocks were higher at the opening of the market today. In a majority of instances the variations from Saturday's closing were limited to very small fractions. Among the industrials Anaconda and Steel common gained ⅛ each, Colorado Fuel and Iron and Lead ¼ each, Smelting ⅜, Amalgamated Copper ½ and North American ⅝.

In the railway list B. & O., Canadian Pacific, D. & R. G. and Northern Pacific gained ⅛ each, St. Paul, N. Y. Central and Pennsylvania ⅜ each, Wabash preferred ¼, Reading ½ and Rock Island preferred and Southern Pacific ⅝ each. C. & O. declined ⅛. Atchison, B. R. T., Great Northern, Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific were unchanged. Trading was slow in the first 15 minutes, activity being chiefly confined to the copper stocks.

At the end of the first half hour the tendency of prices was downward. Union Pennsylvania, Northern Pacific, B. R. T. and B. & O. lost ¼ each; St. Paul ⅛, New York Central ⅜, Southern Pacific ½ and Reading ¾ point. Atchison made a small gain. Most of the other prominent issues were at parity. There were practically no changes in the industrial stocks, except in the coppers, which declined a small fraction. Reading was leader among the rails, and Smelting in the industrials.

The "street" is expecting a decision in the commodities clause case today, and the market is therefore in a waiting attitude.

American securities in London were irregular.

The market did not maintain its stability long, prices receding until the important stocks were all selling below Saturday's closing. Some fractional recoveries were scored later, but the buying was limited to a handful of the leaders.

Reading was thrown on the market because of a rumor that the Supreme Court's decision in the commodities clause case was to be handed down today. Prices reacted, in sympathy. Reading and Wisconsin Central fell 2, Delaware & Hudson 1⅜ and Chesapeake & Ohio 1. Federal Mining sold at a decline of 5 and Chicago & Alton preferred 3. Union Bag preferred rose 4½ and Third Avenue 1. A later rally of a point in Reading steadied the market. Bonds were heavy.

The undertone of the market remained heavy but there was no effective selling as a rule, comparatively few stocks showing any significant losses. Minneapolis, St. Paul & S. S. Marie yielded 1¼, and Northern Pacific and Allis-Chalmers preferred 1.

East St. Louis News

Charles Thomas has filed a suit in the City Court against the St. Louis Bed and Manufacturing Co. for $10,000 damages. He lost the sight of his right eye Oct. 1, 1908, when some molten metal exploded while he was working at the company's plant in East St. Louis.

The police are looking for George Brooks, a negro, in connection with the murder of Amanda McAllister, a negress, at 701 Walnut avenue, Saturday night. Frank Brown, who was arrested on suspicion at Belleville late Saturday night, was released Sunday by Chief Purdy.

Fire at 3 a. m. Sunday destroyed the home of John Hayes, 524 Millet street, partially destroying the house at 922 Millet street, and did $400 damage to the house adjoining occupied by a family named Snow. The total damage is estimated by Fire Chief Dowling to be $2500. The origin of the fire is not known.

Herman Moebes, a clerk for the Farm Dairy Co. at Ninth street and Illinois avenue, reported to the police that he was held up and robbed of $35 Sunday at 10 p. m. at his store. He said that a well-dressed young man came into the store, drew a revolver and ordered him to give up the day's receipts.

The women of St. Joseph's parish have each volunteered to give a unique entertainment of some sort to assist in raising funds for the construction of a new church. The festivities will be opened Tuesday night by six women who will give a euchre party at Donohue's Hall. Those in charge will be Mmes. E. Holleran, P. J. Soucy, J. McDonald, J. C. English, J. Marsh and P. B. Cusack.

The officials of the Cotton Compress appealed to Mayor Cook Monday for protection against some negro farmers in the lowlands adjoining the Mississippi River whom they say threatened to cut a levee near the compressing plant. The overflow from the river has covered some of the bottom farms and is held back by the levee near the compress. The Mayor was told that the negroes threatened to cut the levee to allow the water to run off of their land. The Mayor ordered police to the scene.

Buckley's White Sox were defeated by the Maple Leafs Sunday by a score of 16 to 4 in a baseball game at Twenty-first street and Bond avenue. Kenney's White Sox defeated Grace's Stars by a score of 19 to 11 at Exhibition Park.

As usual people are getting married this spring and most of them are assuring themselves of cozy homes by going to Rhodes-Burford's for their fine furniture and easy terms.

DULL TRADING IN SECURITIES ON STOCK MART

Only Four Small Sales Effected at Monday's First Session.

There was little animation to trading at the first session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange Monday. Only four small sales were effected, and at prices which were unchanged from Saturday. Demand was very light, but there were no indications to make transfers at less than the most recent quotations. Bank stocks were unusually dull, as also were issues of the United Railways Co.

LIVESTOCK.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., April 26.—Comparative receipts:

	Today	Week ago.	Year ago.
Cattle	3,000	3,500	1,000
Hogs	8,500	5,000	6,000
Sheep	2,000	6,300	500
Horses and mules	450	700	500

Estimated receipts of 1700 cattle for the native division today represented a fair run of steers, although no toppy grades were included. A good many Western offerings arrived and among them were several loads of real good lightweight steers and heifers that sold at $6.25. Cows topped at $5.25, bulls at $5 and calves at $6.75. The native market was slow, with the general range of values weak to 10c lower.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—With the exception of a couple of loads of Mississippi cattle, the supply of quarantines consisted of Texans. Best steers sold at around $5.45 and mixed stuff at $3.50. The small offerings of Mississippi stock embraced steers at $5, bulls at $3.50@4.25 and oxen at $3.50. The market was uneven to 10c lower.

HOGS—The week opened with a good supply on sale and the market was 15@25c lower than the close of last week, owing to the liberal receipts at all of the Western markets. The top of the market was $7.40 and the bulk of the hogs sold at $7@7.20. Pigs and lights from the Southwest were very slow sale.

Shippers were the best buyers and bought good hogs at $7.25@7.40, while the packers were slow operators and paid $6.90@7.10 for the bulk of their purchases. Best lights sold at $6.65@7.10 and best pigs $5.75@6.10. Some of the trashy pigs and lights sold at $4.25@5.

SHEEP—The sheep trade was active on the good fat offerings, with prices a shade better than at the close of last week. Spring lambs that were only fair brought $8.50, lambs that sold up to $7, clipped native clipped lambs sold up to $7, clipped native mutton sheep $5@5.60, clipped Texas sheep not very heavy at $5 and clipped bucks at $3.75@4.50.

HORSE AND MULE MARKET—Receipts of horses amounted to about 350 head today. The market opened with a weak undertone, but later in the day bidding was more spirited. Prices ruled a shade weaker than at the close of the preceding period.

Mule receipts were approximately 150 head. A few mules were moved out of first hands during the forenoon, but dealers were slow in taking hold of the offerings.

MONEY MARKETS

St. Louis Money Market.

St. Louis bankers agree with the opinion expressed in the East that there is actually more money in the country today than at the height of the business prosperity. This is especially evident in St. Louis, where in many instances the deposit accounts of the banks and trust companies are at record points.

Interest rates are very steady and show no tendency toward hardening. The quotations are 4 to 4½ per cent in the extreme on the best class of presentations.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Call loans, general rate, 2.

German Imp. 3s, 85.

BOSTON, April 26.—Commercial paper continues very scarce, and with the banks competing for the best names, rates rule low. Savings banks still hold out for 4 per cent for year loans. The apparent strength in year money is attributed to the fact that savings banks are not overloaded with money. Because of the depression in general trade, savings banks deposits have not increased to the usual extent; were it otherwise, these institutions would be obliged to lower their quotations.

On call, money ranges all the way from 2@3 per cent, mostly 2@2½ per cent. Time money, 3@3½ per cent.

LONDON, April 26.—Rates for call money and discounts were quotably unchanged. The joint stock banks took July bills at 1 3-16 per cent.

New German loans of 800,000,000 marks in all, bearing interest at 4 and 3½ per cent, are expected about May 3.

The prospectus of the new East Indian Railway 3½ per cent loan of £2,500,000 offered at 96½ has been issued.

The stock market was quieter in all departments, with some uneasiness on the Turkish situation still apparent. American stocks on the curb were firm. Paris strongly supported Rio Tinto.

TICKER TALK

NEW YORK, April 26.—Alfred Mestre & Co. say: "At the comparatively high average level of prices for stocks, it must be expected that reactions will be more or less frequent, due to the desire to realize profits on speculative ventures, but aside from movements of that sort there appears to be no good reason to anticipate anything but a continuation of the bull campaign."

Prince & Whitely say: "On a scale down from Friday's level we think purchases of stocks cannot fail to prove profitable, as we see nothing in general conditions to change our belief in higher prices later on."

E. F. Hutton & Co. say: "Stock operations of an aggressive character on the bull side of the account are not likely to occur at the moment, but we believe such will be seen later on, after the tariff bill nears its completion and is ready for signature."

WHEAT SELLS DOWN FROM EARLY GAINS

Prices Start at Spirited Advance, but Pressure Meets Upward Movement and Reaction Follows.

The covering of the considerable short interest created last week, which, together with fair general buying, was influenced mainly by an unexpected higher range of values abroad, caused a sharply higher movement of prices in the local wheat market at the opening of Monday's session. After ruling somewhat higher, the market quieted down to a marked degree and trading during a greater part of the day was very light. The market was generally dull and most of the early gains were lost, the market showing an undertone of easiness late in the session. The close was ¼c to ⅞@1c lower for the day.

Liverpool prices at our opening were 1¼d to 2¼d higher. This followed a previous extended break on this side and was caused mainly by the strength of spot wheat, cargoes and parcels, short covering, a further decrease in ocean passage stocks and continued rains in India, which are delaying harvesting there. World's shipments, while showing an increase, were not as large as expected and the small exports from America had a bullish effect on foreign markets. During the large declines of last week short lines were largely increased and this faction, impressed by the strong foreign news, was inclined to cover at the opening of today's market. Initial prices were sharply higher and the gains were maintained for some time after the opening, although the market was quiet.

The weather in all directions is splendid. The Northwest reported favorable conditions for farm work on the spring wheat crop and climatic conditions in the winter wheat regions are such to provide nourishment and a seasonable advancement for the growing crop. Receipts, although still comparatively small, were considerably larger than the recent run and stocks are not decreasing as rapidly as they have been for some time. Dullness to an extreme degree is noted in the flour trade, and little export demand was apparent. The cash demand did not show the buoyancy which lately has characterized it, but shipments were again of good volume.

Pit conditions were quiet during the forenoon. After selling at good advances, prices were subjected to considerably pressure and though part of the advances were still held toward noon, the undertone of the market seemed weak and little support was in evidence.

May wheat opened ¼c lower at $1.19 and was bid up to $1.19⅝. July wheat opened ¾c higher at $1.04⅝, declined to $1.04¼, advanced to $1.04⅞ and declined to $1.04⅜. September wheat opened ¾c higher at $1.00⅝, sold at $1.00¼, advanced to $1.00½ and sagged to $1.00¼.

World's shipments of wheat were 8,240,000 bu, against 7,048,000 bu last week and 6,592,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply of wheat in the United States decreased 1,489,000 bu and now amount to 31,139,000 bu. The Canadian visible increasede 186,000 bu, against an increase of 500,000 bu last year. Wheat and flour on ocean passage amounts to 42,786,000 bu, against 43,648,000 bu last week and 49,424,000 bu a year ago.

The pit crowd was all bearish. They were influenced by the weakness in the Northwestern and Winnipeg markets, based on the good weather and by the dullness of cash grain. The small exports from the country were more than offset by liberal ones from Russia and the Danubian districts and the decrease in ocean passage stocks was not as large as expected. Duluth reported the sale of 20 loads of wheat for export and the continued decrease i nthe domestic visible also attracted attention.

When prices had sold down to additional sharp declines the market again became nervous and prices scored partial rallies. The steading up tendency was due mostly to the firmness of the coarse grains. The market closed steady, considerably above the low point, but still somewhat down for the day. May wheat closed at $1.18½ sellers, July wheat at $1.02⅞@1.03 sellers and September wheat at 99¼c sellers. Cash wheat ruled dull and easy. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 167,000 bu. Liverpool wheat closed 1d to 1½d higher, Berlin wheat 1¼c lower and Antwerp wheat 1¼c lower.

Primary receipts of wheat were 370,285 bu, with shipments of 195,338 bu, and local receipts were 32,900 bu, with shipments of 34,900 bu.

Stocks of wheat at Minneapolis decreased 275,000 bu for two days. Minneapolis cars were 220, against 209 last year; Duluth 13, against 5 last year, and Winnipeg 191, against 88 last year.

Corn opened firm in sympathy with the initial strength of wheat and maintained a higher range throughout. Good short covering, general buying and few offerings were in force most of the session, being influenced by the good cash demand, small receipts, good shipments and a sharp decrease in the visible. The close was steady, ⅛@¼c to ⅝c higher for the day. Cash corn ruled firm. Cables on corn closed ¼d lower. Seaboard clearances of corn for the day were 38,000 bu.

World's shipments of corn were 3,997,000 bu, against 2,219,000 bu last week and 2,933,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply of corn decreased 240,000 bu and now amounts to 4,811,000 bu. Corn on ocean passage increased 1,563,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 384,140 bu, with shipments of 563,346 bu, and local receipts were 155,100 bu, with shipments of 37,420 bu.

Oats futures were inactive and ruled firm in sympathy with corn, closing nominally ¼c to ⅝c higher for the day. Cash oats were steady. The visible supply of oats decreased 490,000 bu and now totals 8,426,000 bu. No oats were cleared from the seaboard today.

Primary receipts of oats were 409,546 bu, with shipments of 392,106 bu, and local receipts were 67,200 bu, with shipments of 39,920 bu.

HUSBAND MUST BE BOSS, WOMEN INFORM PASTOR

Of 125 Answers, None Is "Yes" to Question "Must He Be Wealthy?"

LOVE REQUIRED BY ALL

Preacher Asks for "Ideals" in Plan to Marry Single Members of Flock.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Cupid was working overtime at the Halsted Street Institutional Church last night The Rev. D. D. Vaughan, the pastor, is determined to marry the single men and women of his flock. He has asked more than one hundred single women a series of questions on the subject of a model husband. Last night he found out from 100 men their idea of "the ideal wife." Next he will try to get the two ideals together.

Each one of the 100 single women, as well as 25 married "girls" who have answered the minister's questions, say they want the man to be 'the boss." None of them desires a "dude" and only six specify "handsome" as befitting the ideal.

Five of the women answered that they didn't wish "model" husbands, but "ideal" ones, and gave their opinions after changing the word in their "copy."

"Model" Means "Small Imitation."

The Rev. Mr. Vaughan smiled at the first three objections. Then two came by the next mail explaining that "model" means "a small imitation of the real" thing" and the pastor's apologies followed.

"Do you want him to be the head of the house?" was the first question propounded.

"Yes," answered 121. "No," said one; "We will divide the honors," replied the others.

"Do you want him always to follow your bidding?"

All replies were in the negative.

'Do you want him to give his time to succeed in business or his home?"

"Let him so arrange as to make a success of both," or words to that effect, replied 121.

Love Is Essential.

"Do you care whether he loves you or do you really want a home?" was the fourth question.

"He must love me, for I am able to provide a home for myself," was the invariable reply.

"Do you prefer a business or a professional man?'

The minister said he wasn't sure of his answers on this question, but expressed the belief that "about one-third wanted professional men, one-third preferred business, and one-third just wanted men who made a respectable living."

"Must he be wealthy?" was the sixth, and there was not an affirmative reply in the lot.

Young Society Favorite Who Is to Marry a Count

MISS NORAH ISELIN.

DISPATCHES from Vienna announce the marriage in New York May 10 of Count Ferdinand Colloredo-Mannsfeld and Miss Nora Iselin, daughter of C. Oliver Iselin of New York.

Count Colloredo-Mannsfeld is secretary of the Austrian Embassy at Rome, His mother is the sister of Baron Aehrentha, Minister for Foreign Affairs, who incited the seizure of Bosnia and Herzgovina, and so threatened the peace of Europe.

The Mannsfelds are a princely family and own a castle near Aquileja, built in 1302. The head of the house is Prince Joseph, who married twice, but is childless. His next oldest brother is unmarried. The heir apparent is the prospective bridegroom's father. The Count is just 30 years old.

MRS. HENRY C. TIMMONDS KILLED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 26.—Mrs. Henry C. Timmonds, wife of Senator William H. Warner's law partner, was killed yesterday in a runaway accident. Mr. Timmonds, who was with her in the carriage, was seriously injured. He is in a hospital with a fractured leg.

The team Mr. Timmonds was driving became frightened at a speeding automobile and crashed into a telephone pole. The chauffeur hurried away after the accident and has not been found.

RABBI CONDEMNS NEWSPAPERS IN TEMPLE SERMON

Too Much Space, Harrison Declares, Is Given to Crime and Pugilism.

ADVISES BOOK READING

Pastor Tells Congregation Daily Journals Debase the English Tongue.

Modern newspapers were condemned by Rabbi Leon Harrison in a sermon delivered to a large congregation at Temple Israel, King's highway and Washington boulevard, Sunday. Dr. Harrison advised his hearers to read newspapers less, looking over the headlines and giving attention to only "the important facts." And he urged that books be read instead of papers.

The speaker criticised the newspapers severely because, he said, they devote much space to pugilism, crime and the downfalls of men, and very little space to the spiritual side of the city's life.

Rabbi Harrison said of newspapers:

"The average newspaper vulgarizes taste; panders to coarseness and crudeness; reveals in salacious scandals; dwells on the abnormal, the exceptional and debases the noble English tongue, our common heritage. It devotes pages to pugilism, and hardly a weekly column to the spiritual interests of a great city.

"It is news, not when a man rises, but when he falls. His vices fill columns; his virtues not even lines. The divine in man is hardly noticed; only the diabolical.

"What benefit do you expect to get from your minute perusal of the daily paper? The editors themselves will rather pity your taste. One page of Burke, a psalm of David, a paragraph of Emerson, outweighs in essential merit and value all the city's newspapers of today put together.

Marvels in Mechanism.

"What a pity it is for their mechanism is marvelous. One first-class newspaper press can turn out 150,000 eight-page papers in an hour, and these eight pages contain 90,000 words, the contents of an ordinary book. Think of 150,000 books, as far as quantity goes, being manufactured by a single tremendous piece of mechanism in one hour! What a gigantic power this might be if exercised for the cultivation of good taste, for the development of public spirit, for the promotion of political purity, for culture, for lofty standards, for absolute civic righteousness. As a rule, this vast influence is not so exercised.

"The newspapers that aim high, that are educational, that are uplifting, that are a public blessing, are exceptions. Too many of them are dominated by demagogy; are absolutely in the grip of mercenary interests.

"They are slatternly in language; purchasable in opinion; pitifully politic in standpoint; cringing to the mob in their disproportionate emphasis on the vile and the criminal, to the neglect, or the false valuation of the drama, literature and the arts.

"Read Books Instead."

"As a rule, read headlines, the summaries only of vital happenings. Discriminate. Notice the important facts and let the rest go unread.

"Now Tennyson said that in his judgment there were six books best worth reading: Chaucer, Shakspeare, Milton, Wordsworth, Dante and Goethe. You could read them all in a year. St. Thomas Aquinas said that to thoroughly master even one book was to acquire wisdom.

"Have you no time? Take it from your newspaper. You need not devour your daily paper from end to end, as if it were a table d'hote, for which you pay, and of which therefore you must absolutely eat everything. Take this time from the reading of your newspaper, because you will not find much instruction there, and but little wholesome influence.

"Give that time to genuine literature. Feed upon it, however slightly, every day. Are you discouraged by the gigantic size of libraries? How few books constitute their essence! A few master works are the text; the rest are only commentaries. A few books, masticated, assimilated, made your own, part of your mental fiber and thinking, a few such books thus mastered mean culture, mean wisdom, mean a keener joy in life, a deeper appreciation and understanding of life."

Rochester Clothes Washed in St. Louis

H. B. Wardin, vice-president of the American Redemption Co. of Rochester, N. Y., was recommended to J. Arthur Anderson's Laundry, 3968-70 Olive street, St. Louis, by a well-meaning friend in Carthage, Mo., who had tested the efficiency of his work. Mr. Wardin followed the advice and sent his laundry to Anderson. The first installment got back home a few days ago and elicited this letter from Mr. Wardin to Mr. Anderson:

"Package of laundry received. Magnificent work. I will send you a bundle every two weeks." Rochester used to be famed for its laundries. J. Arthur Anderson has put St. Louis way ahead of them all.

COLONY SYSTEM FOR DRUNKARDS

Massachusetts Plans Settlement for Cure of Inebriates.

BOSTON, April 26.—Massachusetts is going to take a leaf out of the book of Prof. William Muldoon, "Czar of White Plains," in the treatments of her drunkards.

The Foxboro State Hospital for Inbriates will soon be turned over entirely for the care of the insane, and the colony system will be for the care and cure of inebriates. A large tract of land will be purchased for this purpose.
